THE MANAGER

OWEN COYLE

Good evening and welcome to the Reebok for tonight's FA Cup third round replay.

Matches against Macclesfield are becoming quite common and indeed tonight is the third time that we will have played them this season, the second of which has been at the Reebok.

I felt that in our original match at Moss Rose we could well have secured our place in the fourth round, but credit to Macclesfield and their manager Gary Simpson for the way they went about the game. They approached it with a really positive attitude, always looked to push forward and that gave plenty of heart for their supporters, who turned out to support their side and got the ground rocking.

They scored a wonder goal to take the lead in the second half and that summed up what can happen in the FA Cup, but we responded well and for the last quarter of an hour of the tie we created an array of goalscoring chances.

Throughout the 90 minutes we played some good football, passing and moving the ball around the pitch. Ivan could well have scored a hat-trick, but we found their goalkeeper Jose Veiga in outstanding form.

OWEN COYLE AND GARY SIMPSON SHAKE HANDS AFTER 90 ENTERTAINING MINUTES AT MOSS ROSE.

The 2-2 draw meant that we have to play again tonight to decide the tie, and I welcome Gary, his team and all connected with Macclesfield to the Reebok again, following on from the Carling Cup meeting back in August.

Macclesfield showed their quality that evening and again we had to come from a goal down before booking our place in the next round. We know what Macclesfield are about and we will have to play to our potential if we are to get the win and set up a home tie against Swansea City in the fourth round.

THE AWAY END PACKED WITH BOLTON FANS AT MACCLESFIELD.

We had a great following at Moss Rose with more than 1,800 making the trip to Cheshire, and going back to last season we were backed brilliantly when we took to the road at places like Wigan, Fulham, Birmingham and Wembley in what was a real cup adventure.

As everyone knows, I'm a big fan of the FA Cup and I believe it to be the best knock-out competition in world football. We want to progress and set the wheels in motion for another cup run like last season but our first task is here tonight.

With home games against Liverpool and Arsenal to come within the space of the next two weeks, thanks for coming along and getting behind the team this evening.

THE CAPTAIN

KEVIN DAVIES

First of all, I'd like to start by wishing Gary Cahill the best of luck in his new challenge at Chelsea. He was at the training ground yesterday to say his goodbyes and we are all sorry to see him go because not only is he a great footballer but a great lad as well.

I'm sure that his career is going to continue on an upward spiral and that he will go to Stamford Bridge and win some trophies, along with cementing his place in the England team.

When Gary first signed for us four years ago he still had a lot to learn, but the progress he has made in the time since has been brilliant. He has turned himself into one of the best defenders in the world and that has been down to a lot of hard work.

With Gary moving on to pastures new it presents a chance for someone else to step in and show what they are all about. This transfer had been a long drawn out deal, but now that it is completed everyone can now move on and concentrate on football.

On a different matter, last week our Under-18s team were in action in the FA Youth Cup at the Reebok Stadium against Southampton, and I came along to offer some support. With the Academy now being located at Lostock, it's difficult for us to get to see how the young lads are getting on.

Although they lost 2-1 and they will be disappointed with the result, I thought that they put in a decent performance. At any club you need younger players coming through and I felt that a few of them showed that they have a great deal of potential.

With regards to tonight's tie, I think we can expect more of the same. We've already had two good, competitive games against Macclesfield this season and it's set to be another hard-fought cup clash tonight.

Obviously they are after a scalp, but we've got them back to our place after the 2-2 draw at Moss Rose and it's a good chance for us to put ourselves in the fourth round. If we do the business tonight then it's going to be a busy couple of weeks here at the Reebok with the home Premier League fixtures against Liverpool and Arsenal, plus the potential fourth round tie versus Swansea City.

Our home form has to get better because our away record this season has been of a decent standard. If we can marry the two together for the remainder of the campaign then we will give ourselves a great chance to climb the league table and go on another cup adventure.

Enjoy the game,

WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS 1

FLETCHER 49

MATCH REPORT

Sam Ricketts returned from an 11-month spell on the sidelines to net an unlikely goal in a game that Bolton were forced to settle for a point after some fine goalkeeping from Wolves stopper Wayne Hennessey.

The versatile Welsh defender played his first senior minutes following an Achilles injury and bent home a sumptuous opening goal on 22 minutes.

Having rattled Jussi Jaaskelainen's crossbar the towards the end of the first half, Wolves' persistence eventually paid dividends just seconds after the break when Steven Fletcher nodded in an equaliser from Matt Jarvis' free-kick.

A string of fine saves from goalkeepers at both ends of the field then followed, with Fabrice Muamba and Gretar Steinsson both denied by a full stretch Hennessey in the visitors' goal, as Bolton were left frustrated with what was their first draw in 29 games.

THE GAFFER

"Given our first-half performance we were disappointed not to have taken all three points. I thought in the first half we played with a very high tempo. We did all the things we expect to do very well and we got a deserved lead which we could have added to.

"We gave a soft goal away at the start of the second half and then both teams had the opportunities to go on and win the game. Hennessey made some wonderful saves, while Jussi made one for us.

"At 1-1 the game was in the balance and over the piece we finished with eight shots on target to their three. I think we offered enough to have got the three points but it is what it is."

MAN OF THE MATCH

Media Watch with JACK DEARDEN

BBC RADIO MANCHESTER'S JACK DEARDEN CONTINUES HIS COLUMN IN THE MATCHDAY PROGRAMME.

I've got to say that I enjoyed my experience at Moss Rose ten days ago. I've got a lot of time for clubs like Macclesfield Town and it was a good day out at one of the more traditional football grounds in English football.

It was a bit of a throwback but it just makes everyone realise how lucky we are to be working and watching football week in week out at these fantastic multi-million pound stadiums.

terracing re-introduced, accepting safety is a priority.

On the tie itself, well there was all the drama you could possibly want in a third round FA Cup clash, with the underdogs looking like they were going to progress at one point, only for Wanderers to peg them back and snatch a draw. I've got to say that things went well for Macclesfield. They had a complete sell-out crowd and gave a good account of themselves, as they have done in every game I've watched them this season.

Success always has to be viewed relatively, and looking at Macclesfield's level, it's fair to say that they have over-achieved during the last 12 years they have been a Football League club.

It's very difficult for them, as their Chairman Mike Rance (right) will tell you, and it's not unfair to say that it is a struggle for sides of their size in that division, but experiences like last Saturday's makes it all worthwhile. A lot of people and work is needed to help keep teams like Macclesfield afloat, however that's just the way the football pyramid works.

Obviously a club like Macclesfield Town are a trading club. If they discover a player and he becomes a better footballer whilst he is with them, then they will find themselves in a position where interest will be attracted from other clubs. It has happened on a couple of occasions already this season, with Emile Sinclair – the player who scored at the Reebok in August – being the most notable case following his transfer to Peterborough.

I'm not being critical of Moss Rose in any way because I know that everyone who went to the game would have had a good day, especially the Bolton fans who were packed into the terracing behind the goal. It must have been a long time since they were able to cram in and stand up and watch a competitive game like they all did.

I'm sure that was one of the attractions for the supporters when the draw was made because opportunities to watch a live game in that environment are becoming few and far between. The weather wasn't fantastic – I'm sure the fans got a little bit damp and cold by the end of the afternoon – but credit to them for braving the cold, winter conditions at the start of January.

On the subject of standing at games, I'm absolutely convinced that the majority of fans would prefer to do that rather than sit and watch matches. There are obvious reasons as to why modern day grounds are all-seater, but I do believe it would be nice to see

A big bonus for the Silkmen is that they have got this replay tonight. For the last six weeks or since the third round draw was made their players would have been gearing themselves for the cup tie, and now they have got a second bite at the cherry, but Wanderers will be red hot favourites for tonight's replay, and rightly so.

While the Saturday was a big day for everyone at Macclesfield, we at BBC Radio Manchester had a busy afternoon on the Sunday with the big derby. And like with what we saw at Moss Rose, we got another typically exciting FA Cup classic at Etihad Stadium.

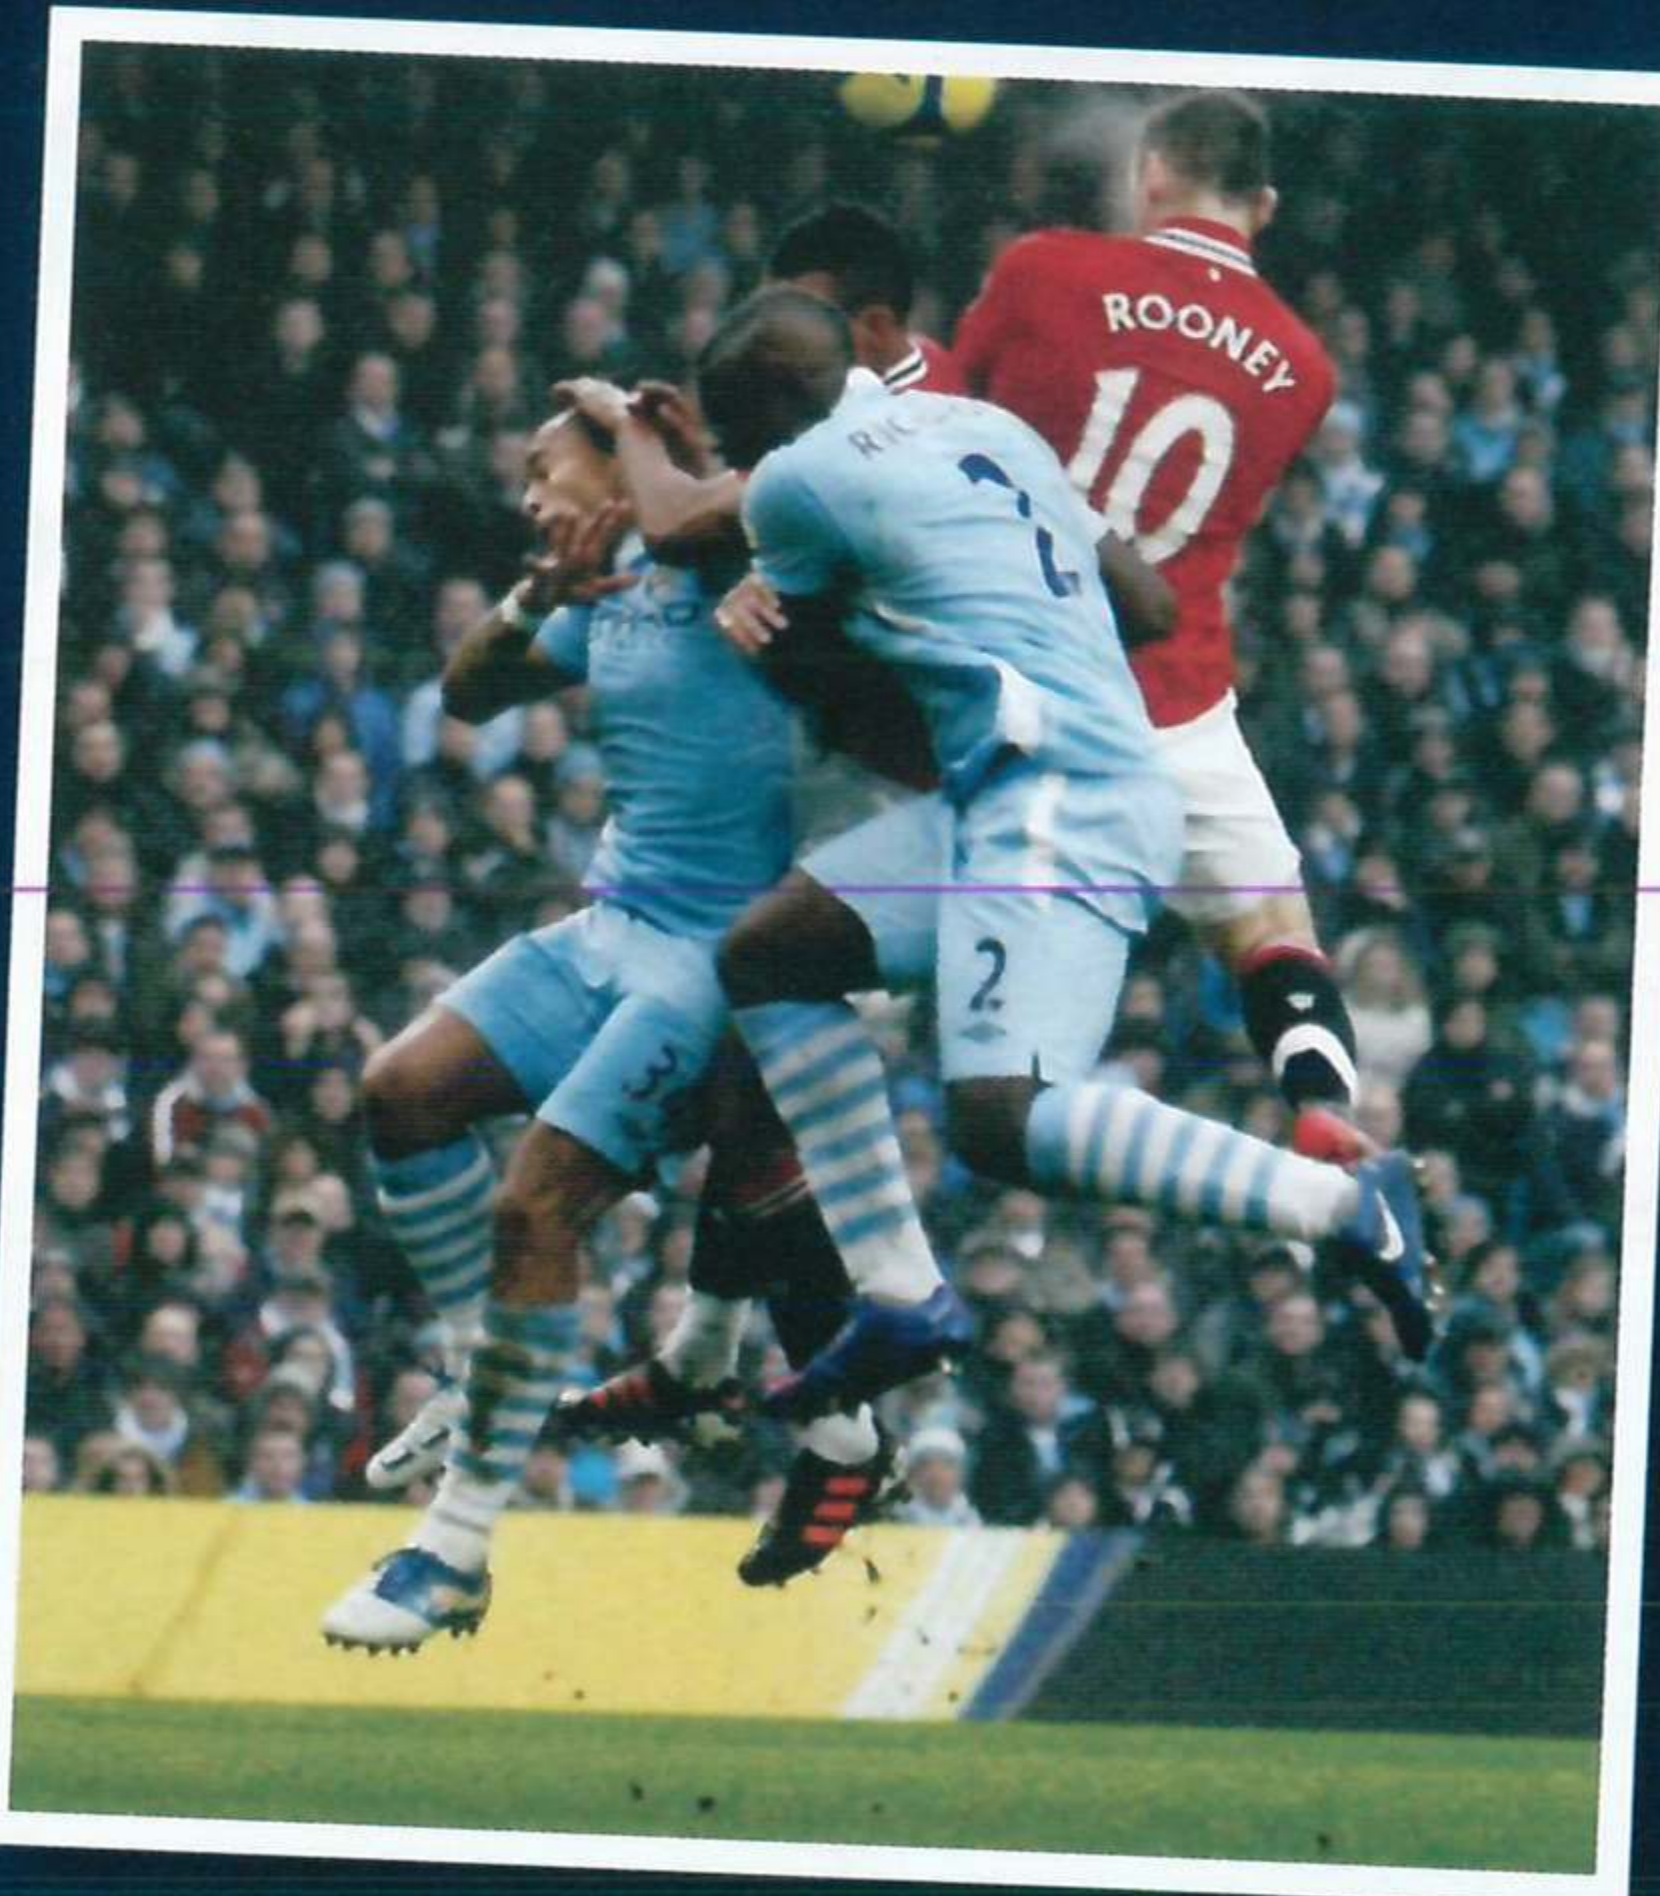

It was City against United, red against blue, a proper Manchester derby. I'm sure no one would have quite expected United to have been three goals up after 35 minutes - I wonder what odds you would have got on that before kick-off?

The way in which City fought back was credit to them and they could have even got an equaliser at the end, plus there was the usual controversy on derby day with the early red card to Vincent Kompany. After the game we got the usual inundation of calls from fans, with the majority of United fans saying they deserved to win and City followers saying they were unfortunate to lose, but perhaps the most interesting of post-match comments came from Roberto Mancini.

I couldn't quite understand the point the Italian was making when he said that the result will help Manchester City push on in the second half of the season and win the Premier League. It might have got lost in translation a bit, but surely a defeat to your nearest and bitter rivals will be seen as a negative rather than a positive even though they did show a fightback after half-time? Anyhow...

I've been asked by Rob in the media office at Wanderers who my bet would be to win the FA Cup if I had to stick a tenner on a team. I told him to come and ask me again in a couple of rounds' time because it's still very early to earmark any team at the moment, especially with all the drama that this competition throws up!

Obviously, though, the winners of the Manchester United and Liverpool tie will fancy their chances of going all the way and become one of the clear favourites, but as an outside flutter I wouldn't look past a team like Tottenham or even Sunderland because their form has been terrific as of late.

I still think that it is within Bolton's capabilities to go on another decent cup run. Sometimes it's nice to get away from the rigours of the Premier League, and given the disappointing first half of the season, perhaps the second half of the campaign will be a lot better. Everyone saw last year how league and cup form can go hand-in-hand and if they can work their way through to the quarter-finals, for example, then they might also find themselves climbing the league table.

First of all it's important that Bolton concentrate on tonight's task and look to get the job done before they can even think about a possible all-Premier League encounter versus Swansea City.

Thanks for reading,
Jack.

THE FOOTBALL TALKING POINT

Q: IN LIGHT OF THE RECENT SPATE OF RED CARDS, DO THE FOOTBALL AUTHORITIES NEED TO READDRESS THE RULES ON TACKLING AND WHAT CONSTITUTES A SENDING OFF?

THE JOURNALIST

Yes, without a doubt. I think it's spoiling the game if I'm being totally honest. Unlike many others, I'm actually of the view that the Premier League is not the best league in the world. People keep talking about how the skill level has improved but I don't think that's the case – it just appears that way because players can no longer put a tackle in.

My dad wrote a piece for the paper following the recent international between England and Montenegro. I think the England back four in that game was Terry, Cahill, Cole and Johnson and between the four of them they made just six tackles – or something like that – in the whole game. How can that be the case? It's because defenders are scared to tackle these days because when they do it's a lottery. I therefore think the authorities don't just need to look at the rules, they need to give them a complete overhaul, otherwise we'll never get consistency when it comes to decisions.

GRAHAM HARDCASTLE, FREELANCE JOURNALIST

THE FAN

I don't think it's necessarily a problem with the laws of the game, it's the directives that referees are given from on high which is leading to all this inconsistency. Someone at the very top of the game needs to come out and clarify exactly what is a reckless tackle, and what constitutes the use of excessive force. At the moment, referees, players, managers and fans don't seem to be sure of the rules, which is why we are getting all this inconsistency. If it was made clearer then everyone would know where they stand and we wouldn't be having all of these arguments.

ALEX SANKEY, WANDERERS FAN

THE PUNDIT

It wouldn't make a blind bit of difference if they looked at the rules again. Whenever you've got a situation where human beings are involved things are always going to be open to interpretation. One referee might view a situation in a particular way and another may interpret it completely differently. It therefore makes no odds if you change the rules or not. As long as human beings are refereeing football matches incidents will always be interpreted differently from one game to the next.

The problem is referees are under so much pressure these days, not just from the media but the assessor in the stand, which means they are frightened to use their common sense. Instead, they feel they have to stick to the letter of the law, which is creating some of the problems we are seeing at the moment.

PETE SMITH, SKY SPORTS

CLIVE TYLDESLEY

THE MAN BEHIND THE MICROPHONE

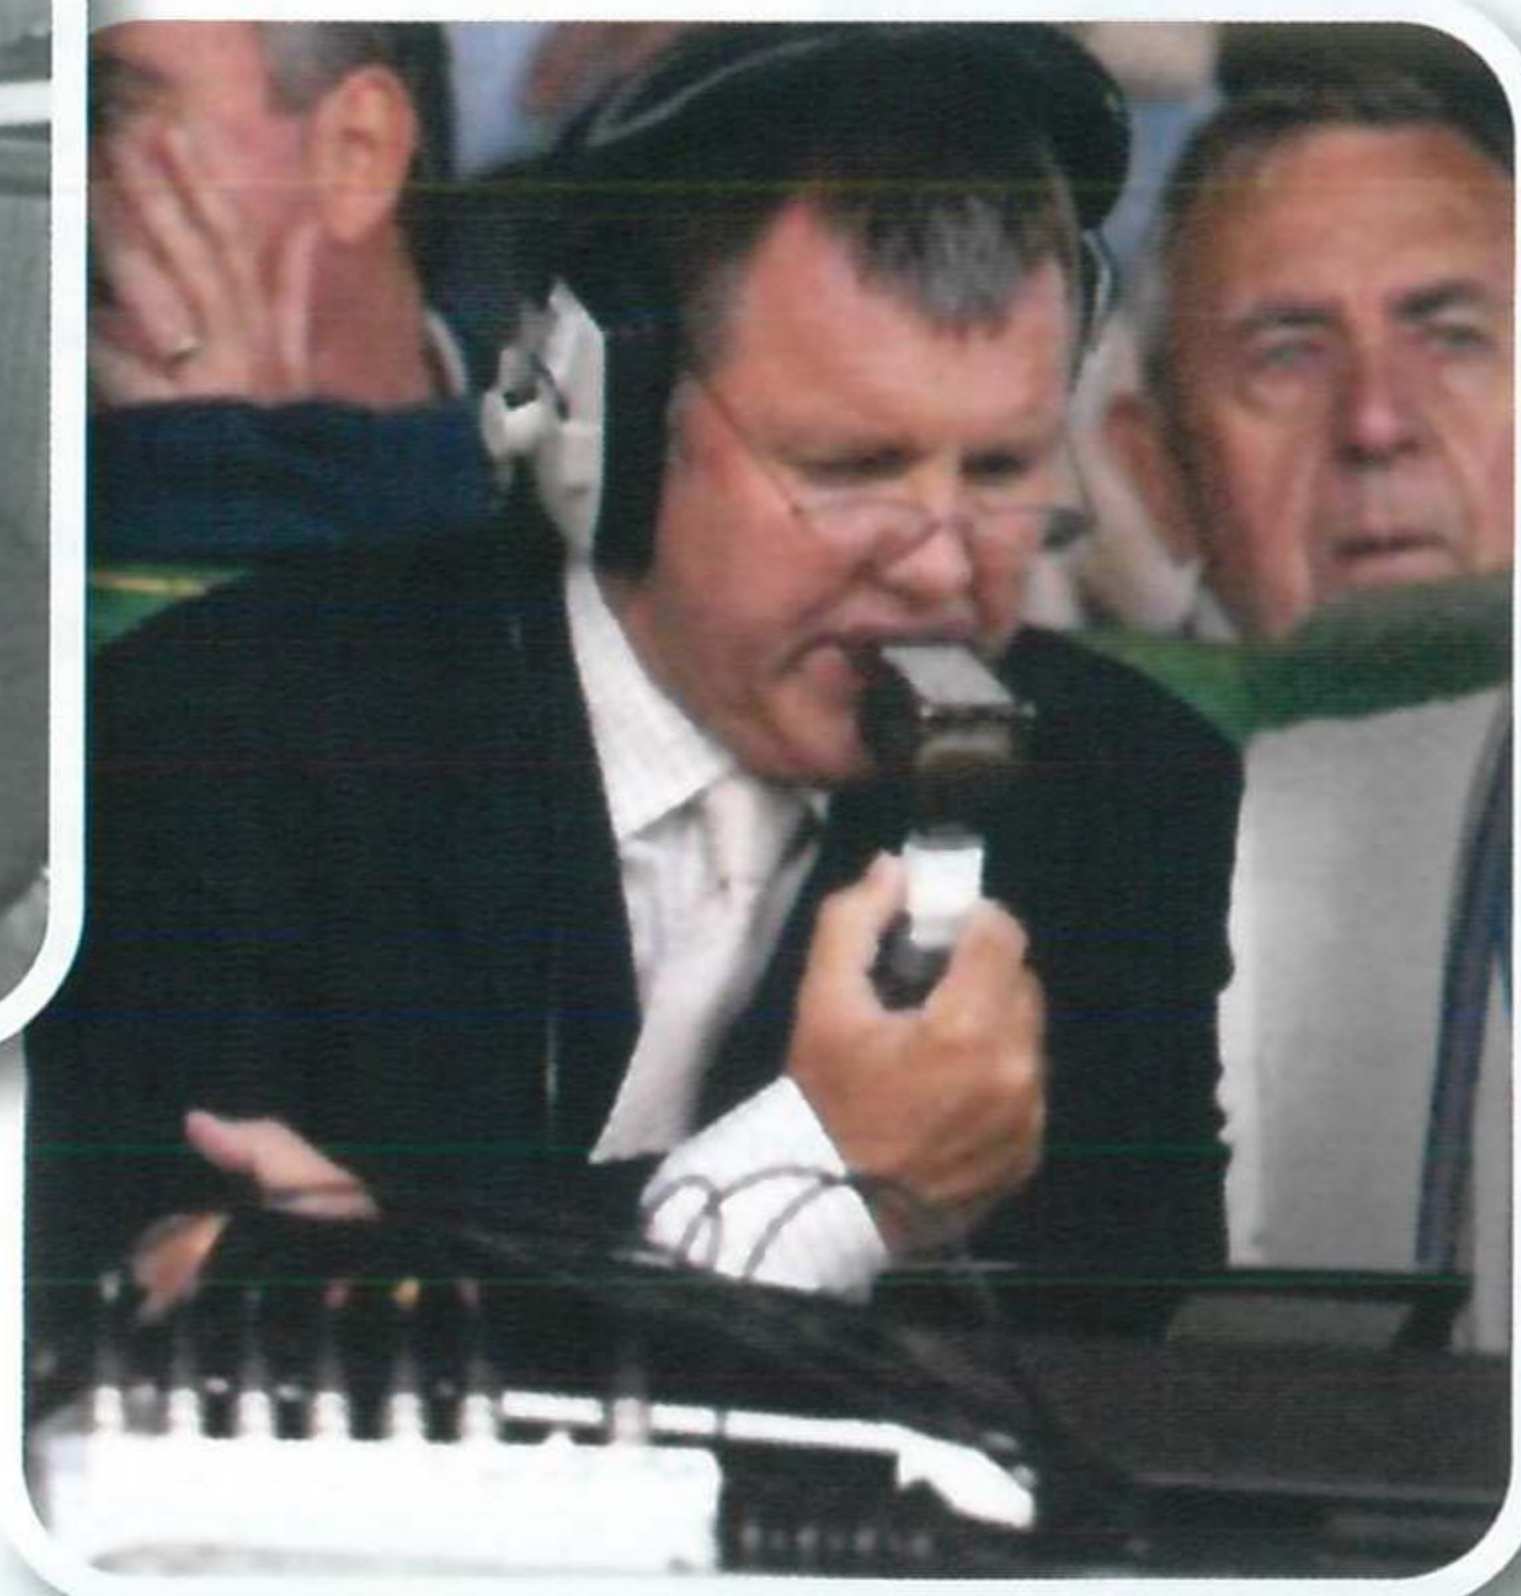

By Robert Urbani

Clive Tyldesley has seen his fair share of FA Cup classics down the years.

The 57-year-old broadcasting stalwart has been ITV's voice of football for well over a decade and is a household name in the world of commentary, standing alongside the likes of Martin Tyler, John Motson and Barry Davies.

Ahead of tonight's replay, the official matchday programme took time to speak to the man behind the microphone, who was present at Moss Rose for the original meeting between the teams ten days ago.

Here, Tyldesley speaks at length about the traditions of the FA Cup and offers an insight in what it takes to become a commentator in the greatest game of all.

Clive, you were commentating on the first tie at Moss Rose, what did you think of that game?

I can well understand why the Bolton players, when they arrived at Moss Rose last Saturday and looked out of the coach window thought to themselves 'I know why these television cameras are here today – they are here to see a upset'.

I enjoy doing the games in the early stages of the FA Cup and shocks are what make the third and fourth rounds of the competition so popular because neutrals always have a place in their hearts for the underdog.

From a cost point of view, there were 26 ties on the Saturday of third round weekend and we at ITV had to pick three from which we could do outside broadcasts, where we send vans, cameras, producers and commentators.

I wasn't involved in the selection meetings, but whoever was would have sat down and looked for three games where there might have been an upset.

Sure enough, we went to Swindon versus Wigan and got an upset there and we chose Bolton's game at Macclesfield where we were 14 minutes away from getting a surprise. The other was at Fleetwood, but it turned out that Blackpool were never in any trouble.

I am the first to appreciate that drawing Macclesfield Town away from home was a wholly thankless task for Bolton Wanderers. It was a no-win situation for Owen Coyle and the team because everyone expected them to progress, and will do so again this evening. It's the nature of the beast in the FA Cup.

Owen would be the first to understand why we were at Macclesfield, and in those circumstances I have got every admiration for the way he and the players dealt with what became a crisis situation after Arnaud Mendy had scored to make it 2-1.

There can be no doubts as to who were the better team in the last quarter of an hour and, having equalised, Martin Petrov hit the crossbar and Jose Veiga made an unbelievable save in the closing minutes to deny Ivan Klasnic. I felt that Mark Davies and David Ngog made a real impact and once the game became 2-2 there was only one side going to go on and win it.

Some people might argue that going out of the FA Cup at Moss Rose could have been a good thing, but it wouldn't. No way would it have been a benefit to go out on third round weekend to a League Two team, especially with Owen being a lover of the cup. That was reflected as the eleven that he put out was a proper Bolton team.

Of course, the irony is that if Bolton progress further and get a draw at home to Manchester United in the fifth round, everything is reversed. In the FA Cup, clubs can be Goliath in one round and then David the next.

Obviously Bolton Wanderers and other Premier League clubs get more media coverage, meaning that you know that bit more about players. How did you research all the Macclesfield squad and prepare in general for the game?

I imagine that my preparation for the game was very similar to that of Owen and Sandy.

I watched DVDs of Macclesfield playing to see what they look like and how they shaped up, although the coaching staff would probably be looking at slightly different things compared to me. In a way, I'm sure that Owen put more effort into preparing for Macclesfield than he did for Manchester United, simply because he knew what he was going to get at Old Trafford and who was going to play.

The commentator's job, basically, is to be more informed than anybody watching. I'm the bearer of information essentially, that's what I do. It's my duty to know more information than any neutral tuning in on the television.

I've got to say that it is a dream job. I'm sure a lot of people would much rather study two games of football than go and do a shift at work in an office or factory. Just like people are jealous of players running round in fresh air training every day, I would expect a few to be envious that I get to write notes, read website and watch football most days. I'm in a fortunate position.

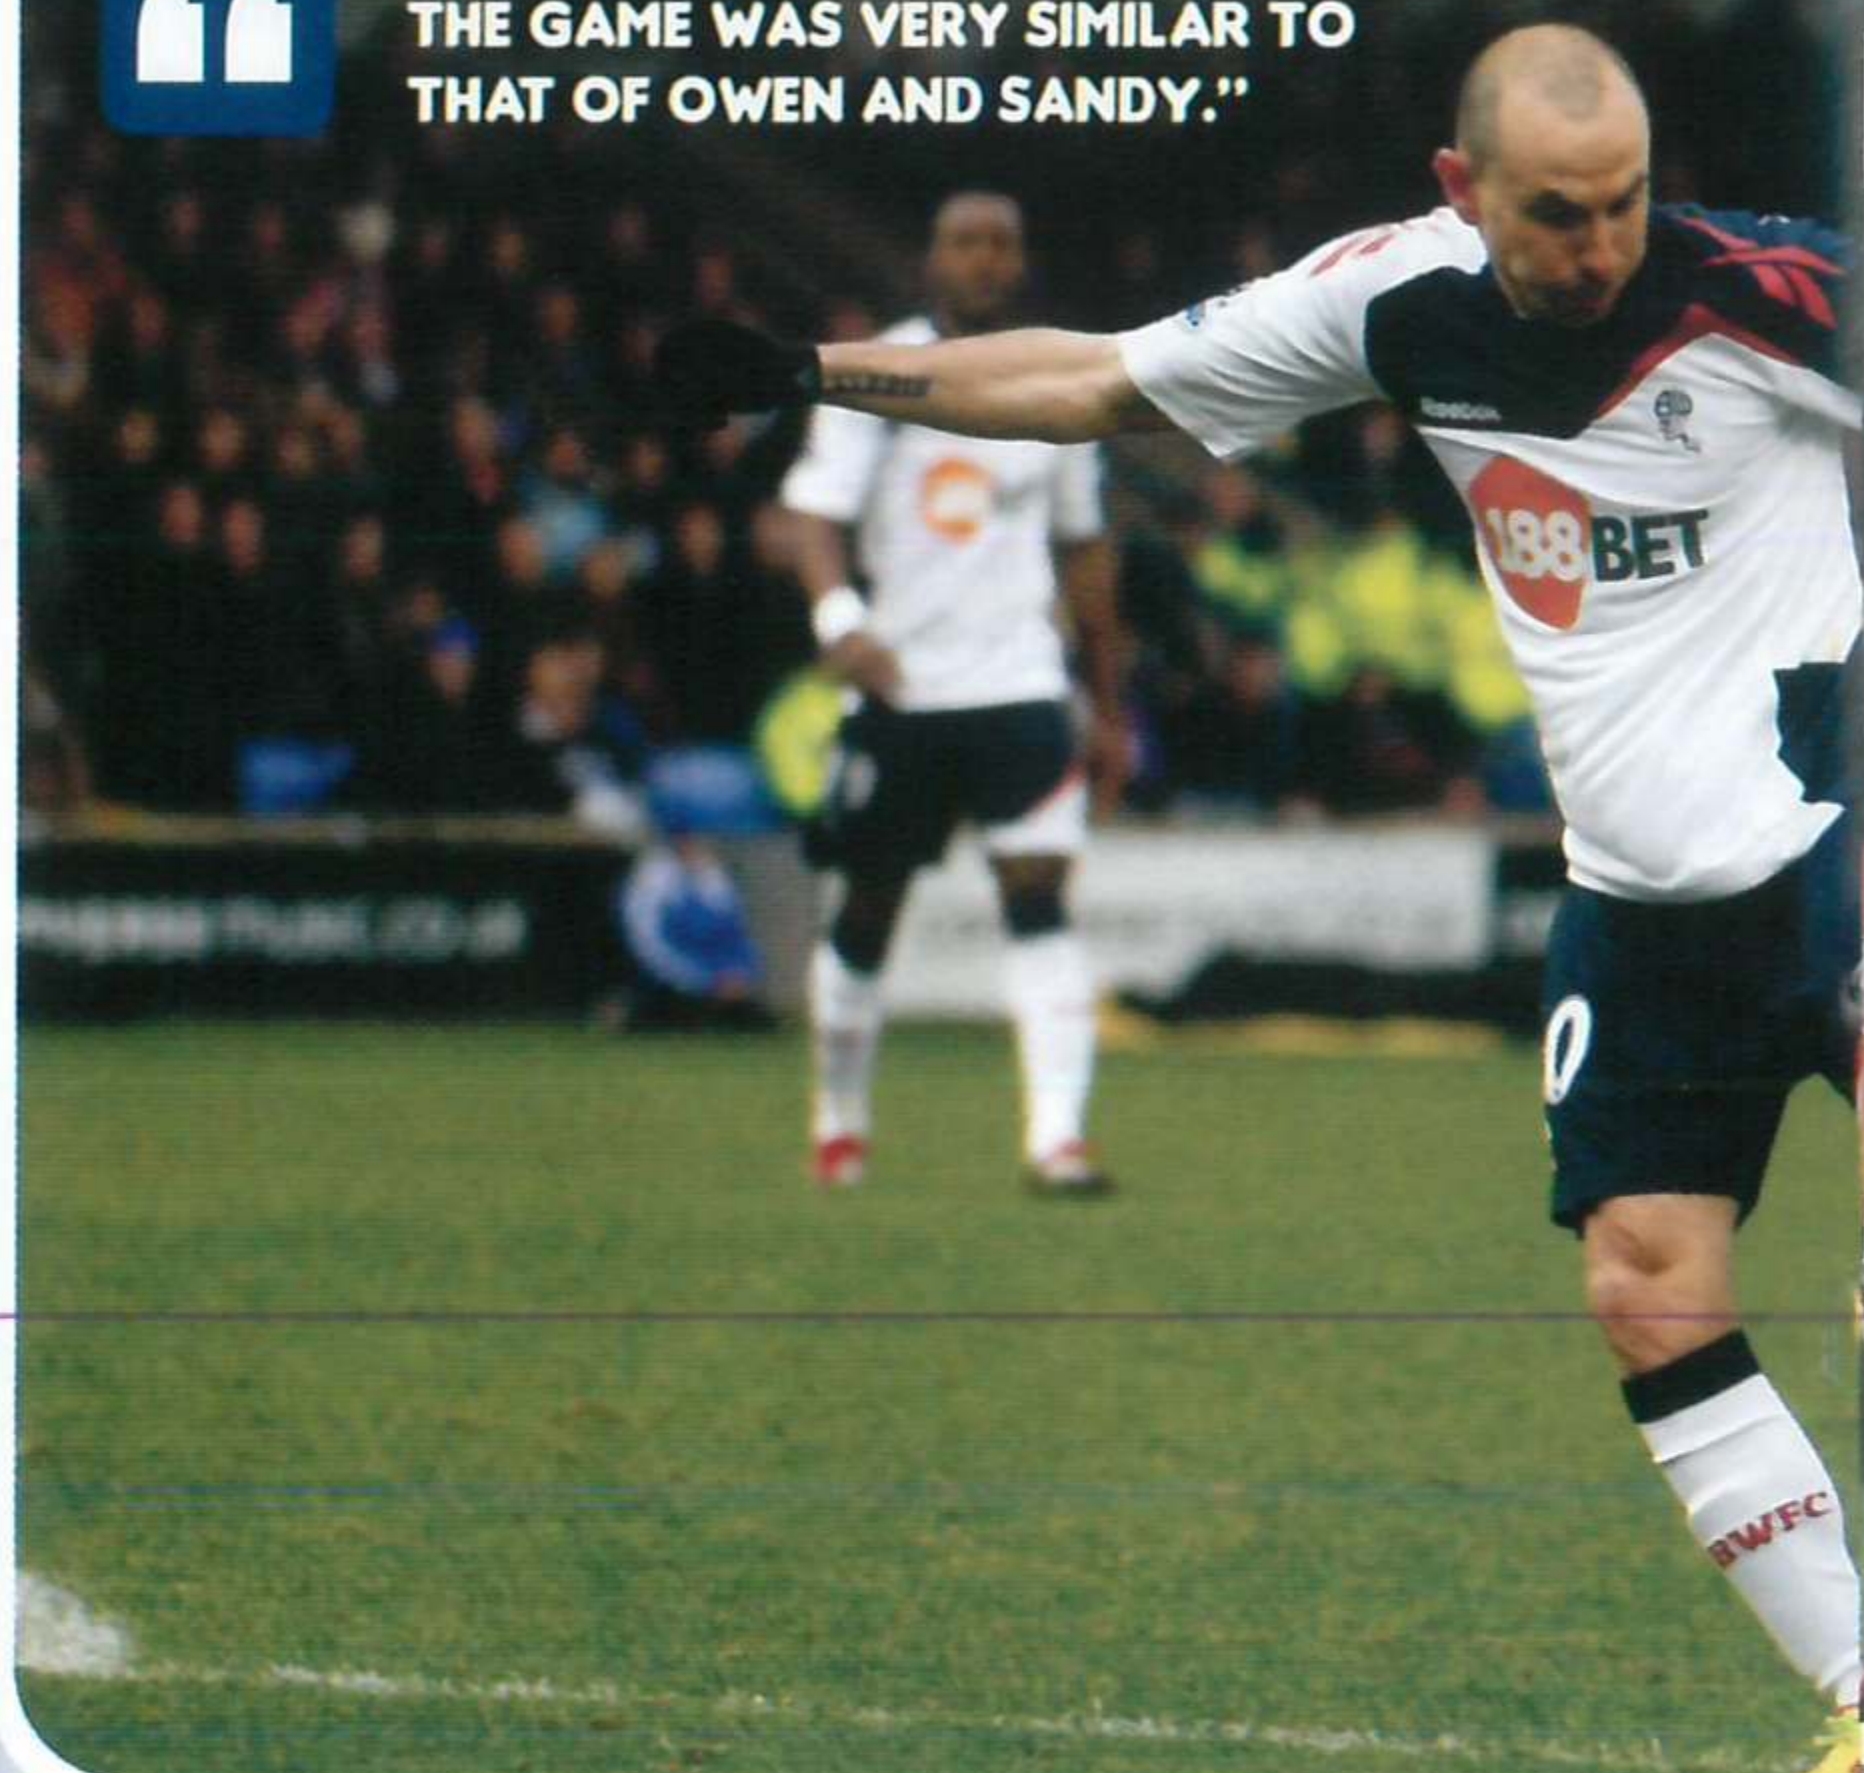

Do you have any connections with Bolton Wanderers?

Well, I was born in Radcliffe, grew up in Bury and lived next to Dave Russell when he was manager of the Shakers. My dad, Tom, even did some part-time coaching at Gigg Lane.

Wanderers were the sworn enemy really, but the first-ever game of football that I went to watch live was at Burnden Park in about 1960. It's not really a secret but my dad was a Manchester United fan, and he took me to watch them against Bolton. I remember Alex Dawson scoring the winner. I saw United lose two semi-finals at Burnden, one of which was against Leeds.

I IMAGINE THAT MY PREPARATION FOR THE GAME WAS VERY SIMILAR TO THAT OF OWEN AND SANDY."

I've got family who are big Wanderers fans, so I've always been close to the club. My first job in television was at Granada so Bolton fell on my patch – I even remember doing a filming shoot at Burnden with Frank Worthington trying to teach Tony Philliskirk and David Reeves how to score volleyed goals. It was one of the funniest things I've ever been involved in because Frank was just smashing them in the top corner with ease and the two strikers couldn't believe how he was doing it.

Vice Chairman Brett Warburton is a good pal of mine and Owen has always been good to me. I know Fred Barber from when he was a player at Everton, so I have been quite a few links to the football club.

Who would you say had the biggest influence when you were starting out as a fledgling commentator?

The late, great Brian Moore was my predecessor at ITV and was a wonderful help.

I was at ITV originally with Granada and then had four years at the BBC between 1992 and 1996, with my last involvement there being covering Euro 96 and the Atlanta Olympics. During that summer ITV asked me to go back to understudy Brian, who had decided to do two more years before retirement, with the view to me taking over as the main commentator after the 1998 World Cup.

I had two years working with the master, following him in close quarters, and he was probably a more remarkable man than people realise. He was a great charity worker, Christian and socialist. He was a gentleman and had strong views on certain subjects and life. Brian was a marvellous example of a man, not just a commentator.

The thing that I admired about Brian was his warmth. The public trusted him and held him in high regard. He was like a Bobby Robson figure in the respect that everybody identified with him, no matter who they supported. Football is very tribal nowadays and that doesn't happen anymore.

The days when you had the voice of football or the voice of golf, snooker or racing are kind of gone now because of multi-channel television. The great broadcasters that I grew up listening to such as Peter O'Sullivan, Harry Carpenter, Dan Maskell, Brian Johnston and Reg Gutteridge all had association with one particular sport and you don't tend to have that nowadays.

BRIAN MOORE

PETER O'SULLIVAN

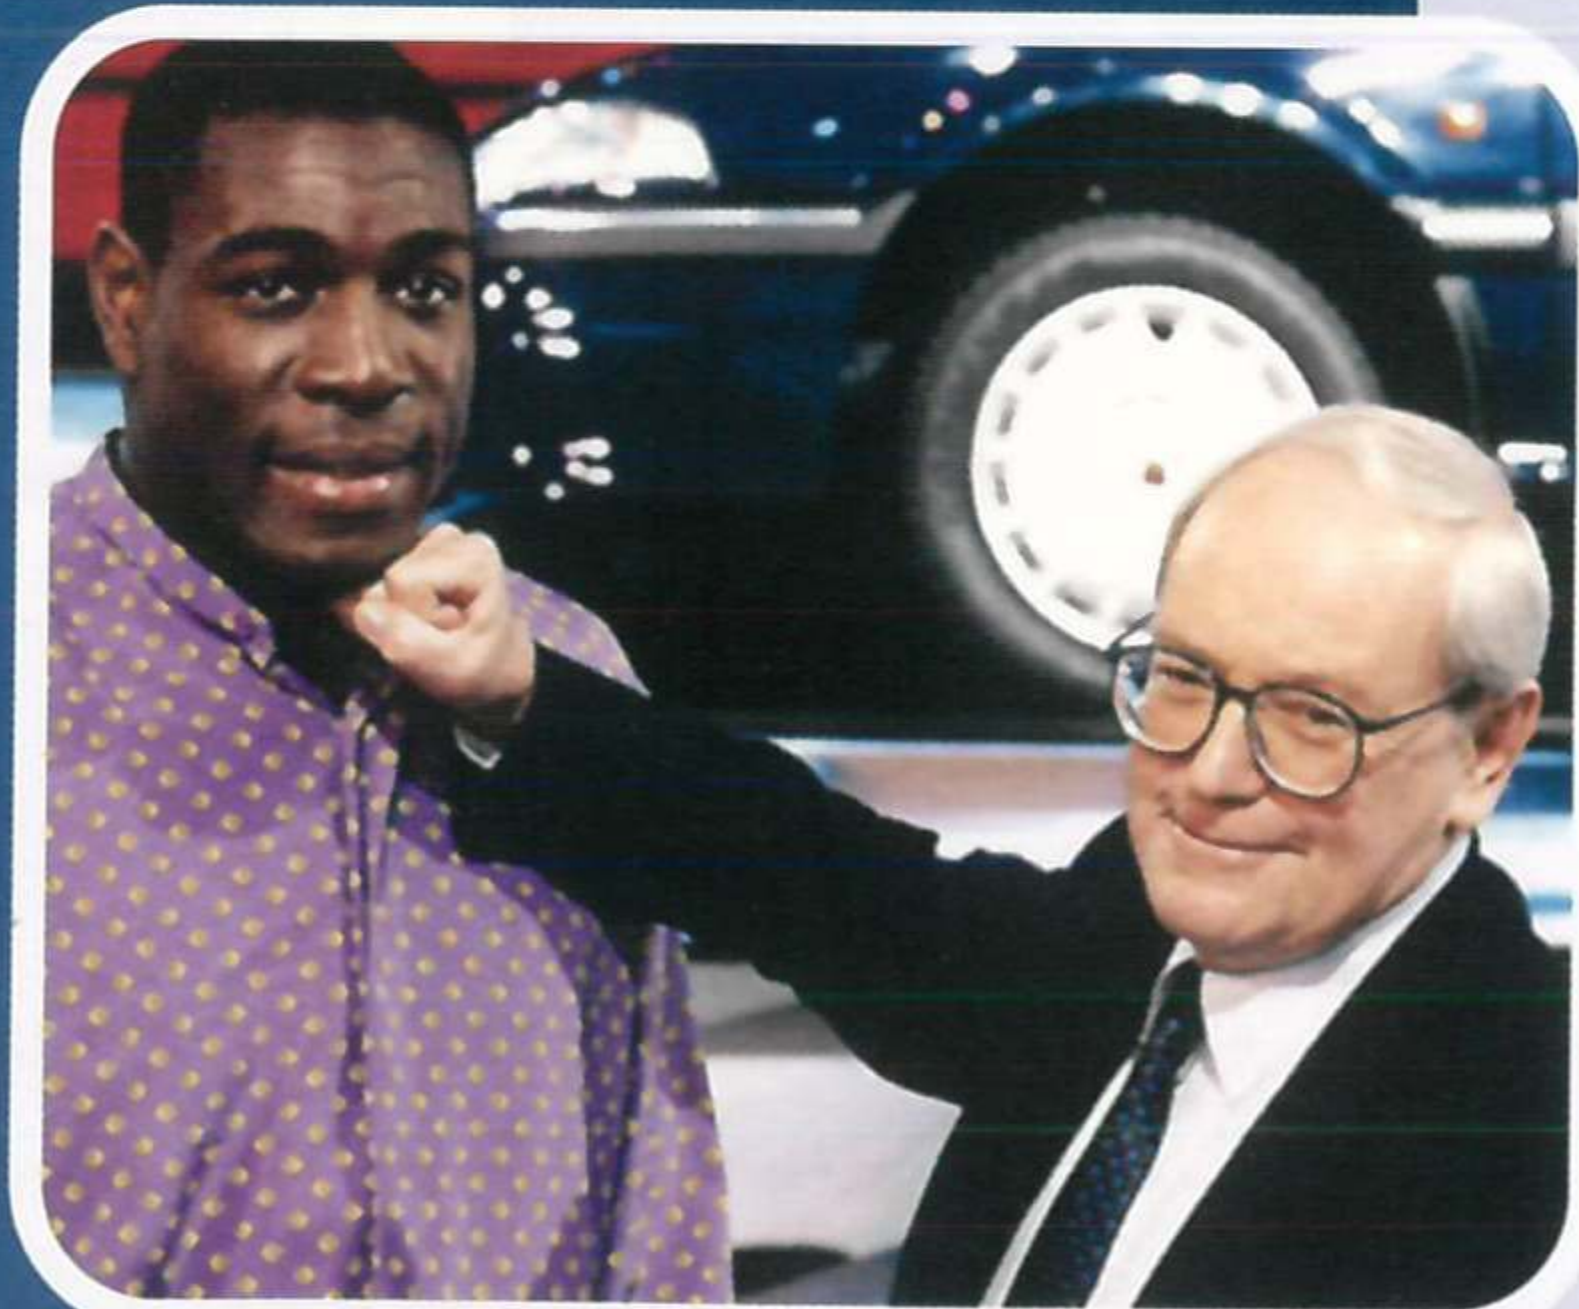

They were the guys who set the standards, and for us commentators it is the equivalent of footballers trying to follow in the footsteps of icons like Nat Lofthouse, Sir Tom Finney and Sir Stanley Matthews.

Finally Clive, whilst we are on the subject of the FA Cup, what would say are your most outstanding memories from the competition?

I went to Wembley in 1976 as a United fan and saw them lose against Southampton, but that was probably one of the last times I watched them as a supporter. I had started my broadcasting career by then and had become a bit of neutral.

One point I will say is that I keep hearing that the FA Cup is on the wane. Clearly for a lot of reasons it is not as central in the landscape of English football as it used to be, but year after year I see great FA Cup ties. For example, the first tie at Moss Rose was a really entertaining game and you can watch three Premier League matches and not find anywhere near as much passion, excitement, drama and action.

At ITV we cover the Champions League, Europa League and England internationals but season after season I look back the best games I had seen in that year and most of them will be from the FA Cup. Simply put, it's a great and historical competition.

A FOOT IN BOTH CAMPS – TONY PHILLISKIRK

By Will Hucker

In this edition of 'A Foot In Both Camps' we look at the exploits of striker Tony Philliskirk who spent three hugely successful seasons at Bolton, as well as a short loan spell with tonight's visitors Macclesfield to round off his playing career.

TONY PHILLISKIRK
WANDERER AND SILKMAN

It was in the white of Wanderers where Tony was most prolific, bagging 76 goals in 182 appearances after signing from Preston in the summer of 1989. He acknowledged that his spell at Burnden Park was the best of his career.

He said: "My time at Bolton brought nothing but great memories. In the three years that I was there I had my most successful time as a player and I was fortunate enough to be part of a really good team.

"On a personal level, to score as many goals as I did made me very proud and I ended up winning the golden boot in my second season. I always did and always will look back on that time in my life with a huge smile on my face."

Despite the personal success of winning the golden boot in 90/91, Philliskirk was very keen to pay tribute to his team-mates who provided the service for him to apply the finishing touch.

He explained: "I was very fortunate to play alongside the likes of Jason McAteer and Alan Stubbs who went on to big things, and also my strike partner David Reeves who arguably made me as successful as I was. I might have scored the goals, but he did all the hard work!

"Then there was Stuart Storer on the right who was lightning quick and probably assisted between 30 and 40 percent of the goals that I scored.

"Tony Kelly, who's still at Bolton today, was an outstanding midfield player and Julian Darby in the midfield as well. There was also Steve Thompson, who's now Ian Holloway's number two at Blackpool, and of course Phil Brown, who I became very good friends with.

"I've probably missed lads off who deserve to be mentioned, the list is endless. There was just such a good team spirit in that side, when one lad went for a night out everyone else would join him, we were all extremely close."

Philliskirk departed for Peterborough in 1992 and stints at Burnley, Carlisle, Cardiff and Halifax followed before he arrived at Moss Rose on a loan deal in 1998.

Sammy McIlroy was Macclesfield manager and brought the striker in to provide some experience in the Silkmen's ultimately successful promotion push.

"It was another time that provided happy memories," the Sunderland-born man revealed: "Although I was only at Macclesfield for a short spell, it was a spell of success. Getting promoted from the fourth tier to the third meant that I left the club on a high.

"Sammy McIlroy is a very good manager; he was very trusting in his players and just liked his sides to play football. The training was very much geared around the Manchester United ethos, with tight possession and small-sided games which was very enjoyable as a player.

"I was in discussions with Sammy Mac about extending my stay at Macclesfield beyond the end of that season but I made a career decision to go into coaching at the time because I was offered a role at Oldham where I am today.

"I played my last game of professional football for Macclesfield down at Exeter and actually scored, so it was quite a nice way to go out."

Now, 12 years down the line, Philliskirk is still coaching at Oldham. Many people were surprised when he called time on his playing career having only just turned 33, but it was a decision that has worked out well for him.

He said: "One thing I always was was very proactive and forward thinking and I had already taken all my coaching badges. Andy Ritchie was the manager of Oldham at the time and the two of us were friends, so when I was offered the job I decided to take it.

"I did wonder for the first year or two whether or not I'd made the right choice because I knew I could have carried on playing, but the fact that I'm still here today makes me sure that it was the right decision for my career.

"Since joining the club I've done a bit of everything; youth team, reserves and I was also assistant to Iain Dowie when he was manager here in 2002 and 2003. Then when Iain moved down south to take the Crystal Palace job I reverted back to working with the youth teams and my title now is Head of Youth Development.

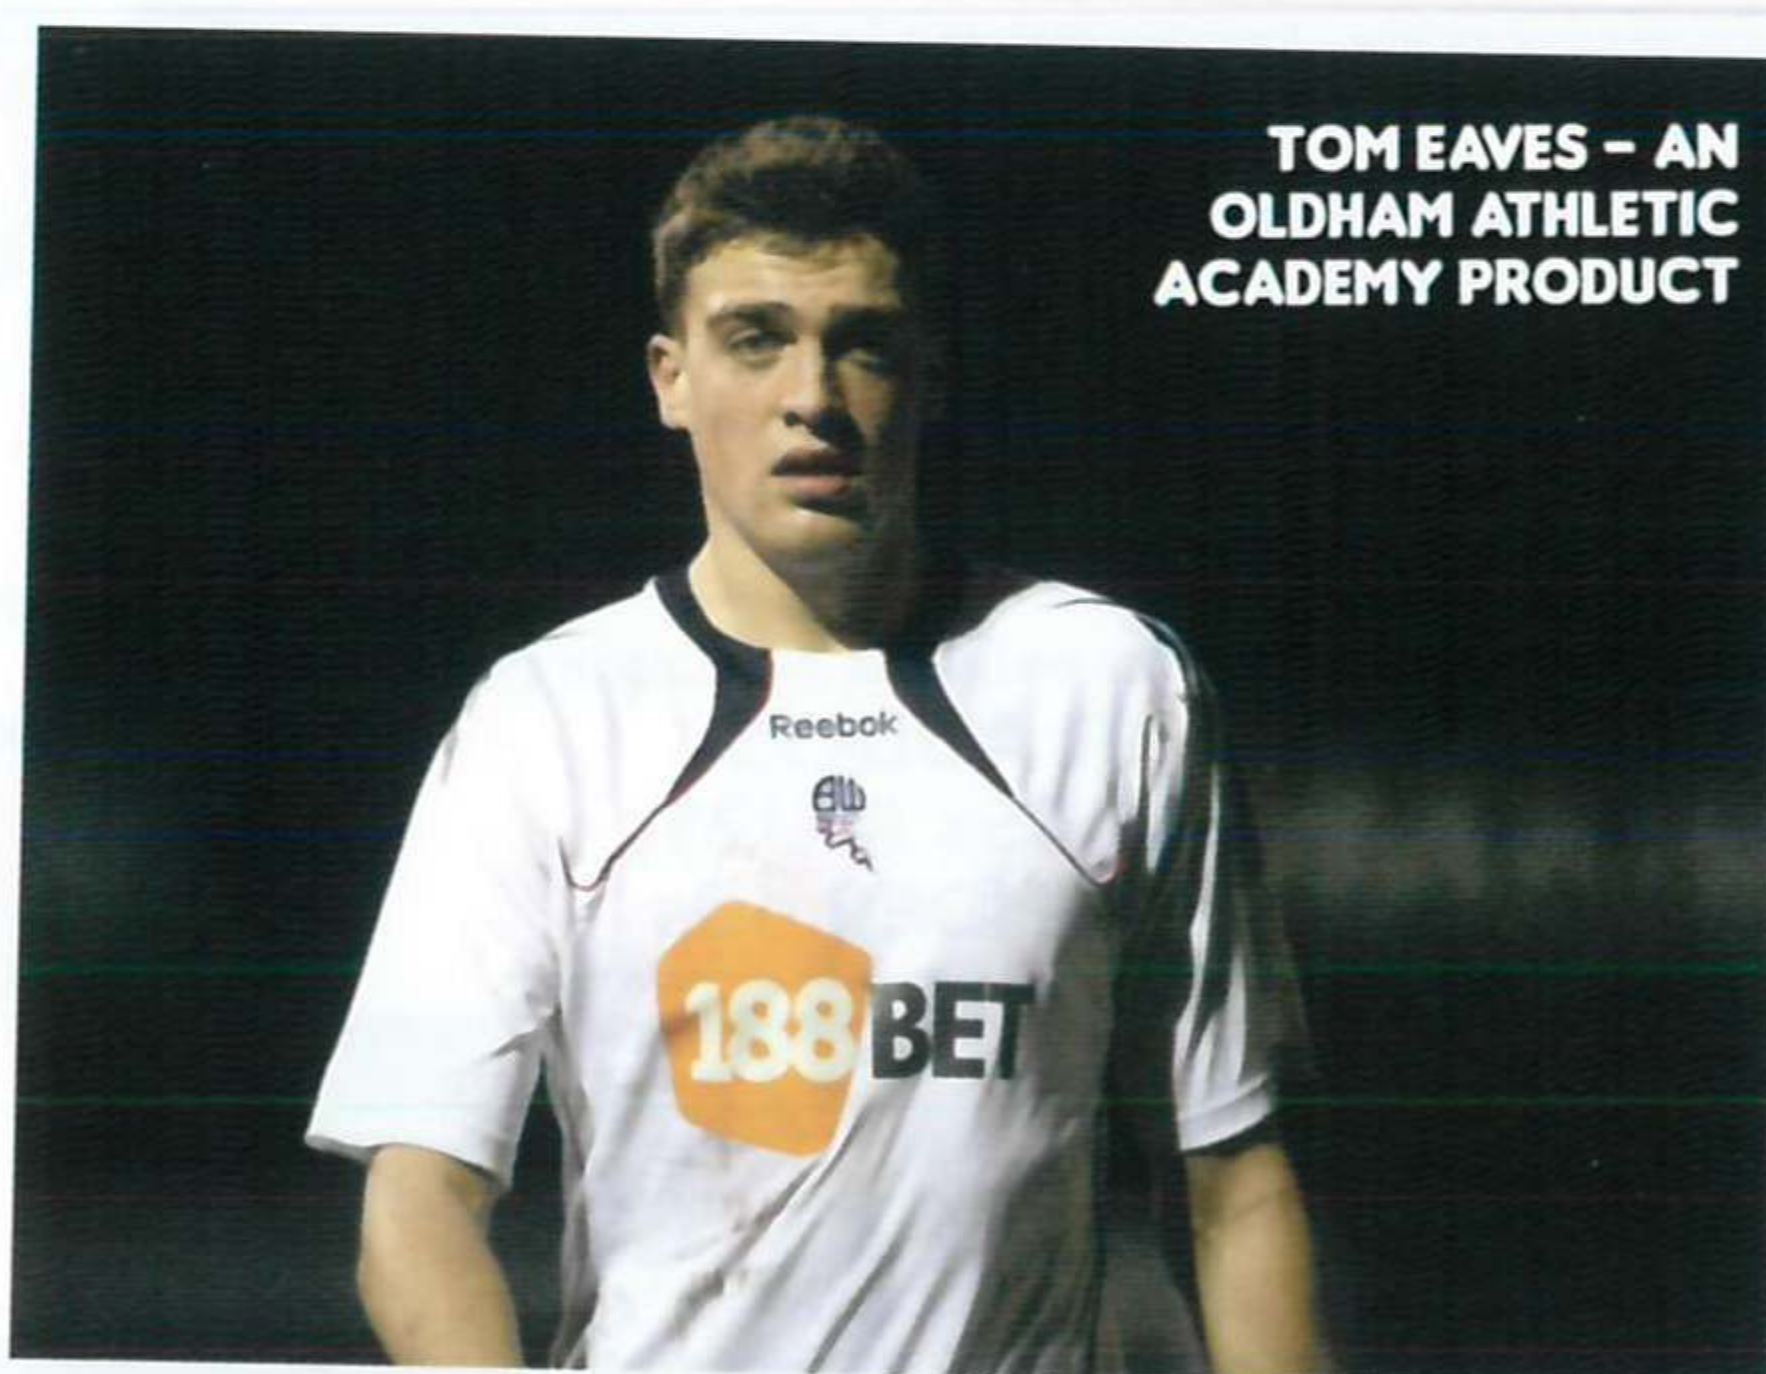

"We've brought through lots of youngsters including Tom Eaves who is now at Bolton, and as a club we're very proud of our work with regards youth development. It's a job that I love and it's great nurturing the young players, hopefully taking them and turning them into good footballers with a bright future."

BOLTON WANDERERS LOTTERIES

As everyone appreciates, the last year has been a turbulent time in the world of lotteries with the recession hitting hard. Therefore, Bolton Wanderers are appealing to the fans to help once again to raise the club's profile in those stakes by joining one of the lotteries.

There are two main lotteries that fans can join and included on this page is information regarding each. First of all, please find a background on the Bolton Wanderers Development Association where all monies raised – once prizes and expenses have been deducted – are then used to fund various projects for the benefit of both the fans and the Club.

The BWDA has funded a number of projects at the Reebok Stadium over the last decade, many of which are for the benefit of the fans, and most recently these include the introduction of Bolton Central.

This fantastic concept by the Club ensures that supporters can now get their match tickets, travel and merchandise, along with paying their lotteries, all in one place.

In these harder financial times it is fully appreciated that a one-off payment for a season ticket can be difficult, so the BWDA funded the software for the Direct Debit scheme introduced by the Club for this season, ensuring that all supporters can afford to watch their team by spreading the costs over a seven-month period. The first year has proved a great success with thousands of fans taking advantage of this option.

Another project that has been funded is the upgrade of the facilities within the Disabled Supporters Suite - now named the Duke of Lancaster Suite - which enhances the matchday experience.

The BWDA have paid for undersoil heating at our Euxton training complex, ensuring that the players can train 52 weeks of the year without having to worry about frozen pitches.

Finally the BWDA contributed towards the installation of a state of the art intelligent CCTV system. This hi-tech function has the capability to monitor various scenarios within the stadium and the technology to zoom within the crowd to search out any matching criteria therefore increasing the response time available for Stewards to act. The high quality of the CCTV footage will assist Police with evidence and thus increasing the chances of prosecution for offenders, this will enhance crowd safety at the Reebok and overall improve the fans match day experience.

So how can fans help further? Well just join one of the club's lotteries.

LIFELINE

This is £2 weekly, giving fans the chance to win £2000 weekly, plus ten £50 consolation prizes. There is also the Lifeline Rollover draw, which currently stands at a fantastic £3000 at the time of writing - this increases by £300 each week until it reaches £7500.

If it's not won by then there is repeat the draw until a winner is found. As a Lifeline member, fans also have access to a number of benefits including the free party nights and five percent discount on season ticket prices. For more details of the benefits as a Lifeline member or to join, contact Alison on 01204 673774.

GOLDLINE

This is £1 weekly, giving fans the chance win £500 Monday to Friday, plus there are many consolation prizes of £10. Goldline also has a Rollover draw which starts at just £250 and can rise up to £5000. At the time of writing it currently stands at £1750. To join today, contact Victoria on 01204 673772

INSTANT WIN SCRATCH TICKETS

For those that don't wish to join a weekly lottery, then help the club by buying one of the instant win scratch cards for just a £1, where there is the chance to win up to £1000. These are on sale throughout Bolton and the surrounding areas – fans can get involved and be in with the chance of striking it lucky!

Alternatively, if there are people who wish become an agent for the club and sell the scratch cards to their family and friends, contact Jacky on 01204 673663 for more details.

GOLDEN GAMBLE

Finally, there is the Golden Gamble draw on home matchdays - £1 is all it takes.

Sellers are located at all turnstiles and within the corporate areas of the stadium. Fans simply need to purchase a ticket and wait for the draw at half-time.

There is the chance to win up £1500.

A thank-you goes to those who are already supporting one or more of the lotteries. If there are supporters who have previously been a member and would like to re-join, then they are always welcome.

Those who are interested but would like a bit of guidance as to which lottery to go for, simply call any of the above telephone numbers where members of staff will be happy to help.

BOLTON WANDERERS AND:

BY MARK HEYS

During Bolton Wanderers' most recent tenure in the top flight they have come up against lower league opposition on more than 20 different occasions, be it in the League Cup or FA Cup and historically the odds have usually gone for rather than against them.

Macclesfield Town are a side who tested that strong Wanderers record to the limit in the original FA Cup tie at Moss Rose ten days ago and tonight they will make their second visit to the Reebok Stadium this season looking to cause further ripples.

Last season's FA Cup campaign for Bolton started off with what was on paper a routine clash against Blue Square Premier side York City but the Minstermen did themselves proud on the day and held out in the tie for over 80 minutes until Kevin Davies and Johan Elmander came off the substitutes bench to settle the fixture with two late goals.

Two years ago there was no such nail biting anguish as Bolton comfortably disposed of Lincoln City in a 4-0 home success. The game against the Imps was overseen by caretaker managers Chris Evans and Steve Wigley and came just a week before Owen Coyle was to return to the club as manager.

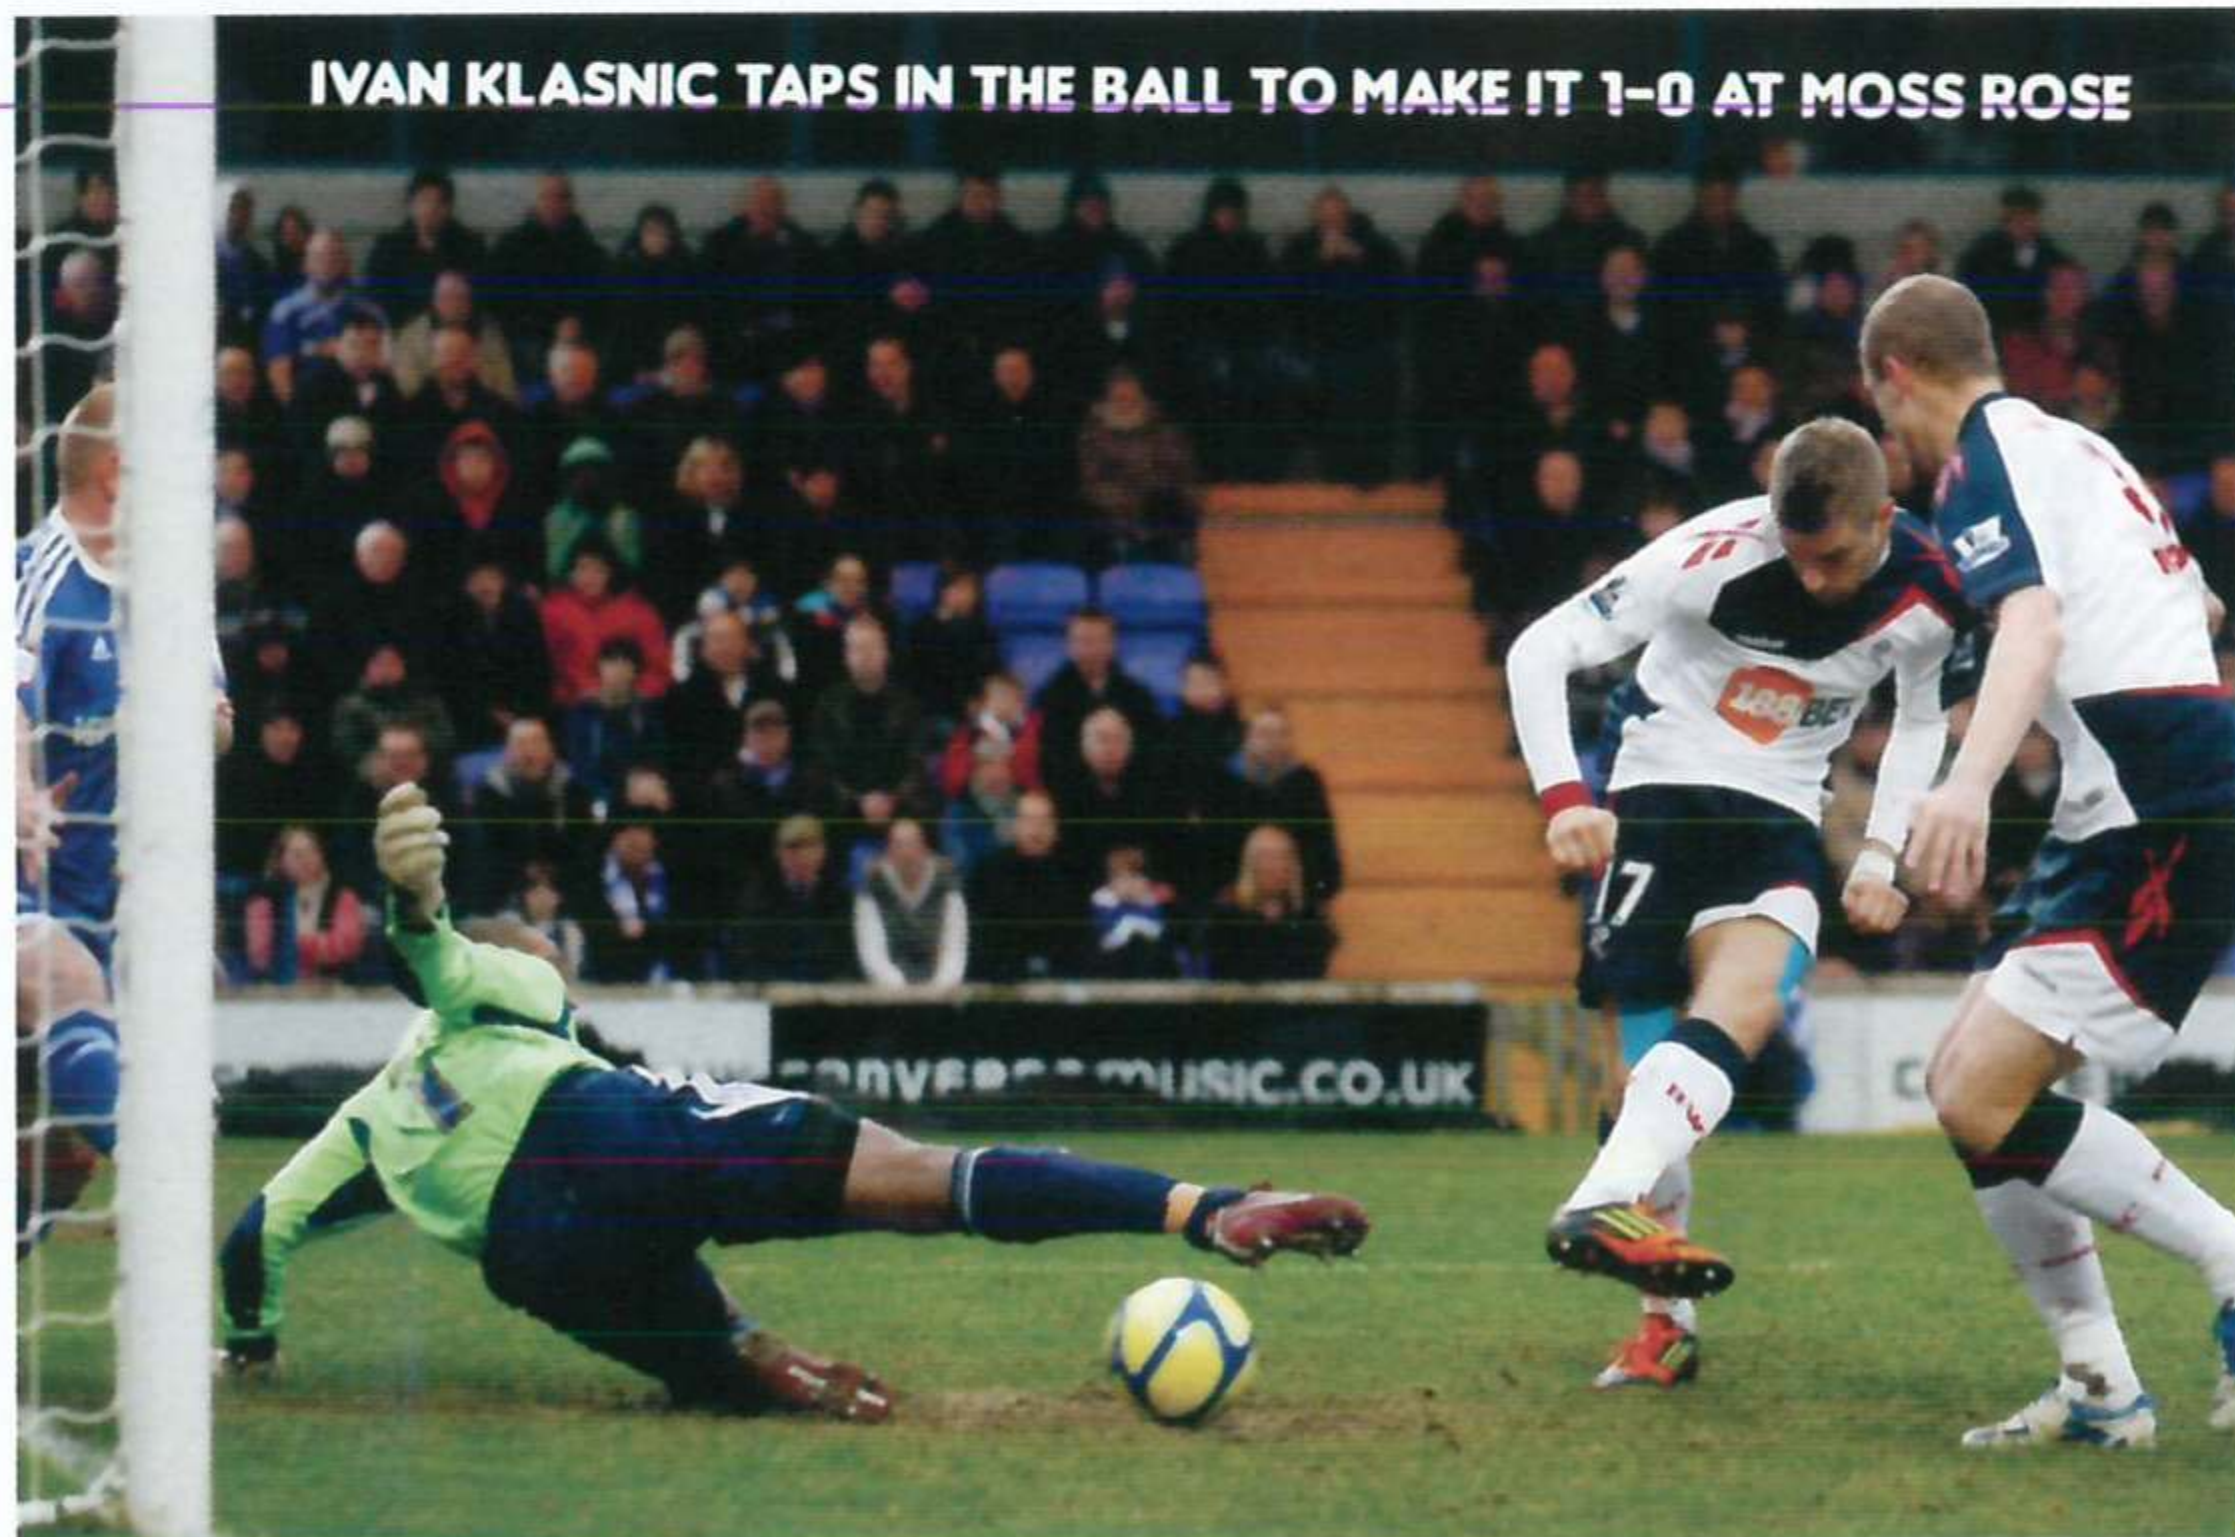

Wanderers put themselves in the ascendancy just minutes after the interval when Lincoln's recently acquired defender Moses Swaibu diverted Matt Taylor's cross past his own goalkeeper and Lee Chung-Yong doubled the advantage when firing confidently past keeper Rob Burch.

Further goals from Gary Cahill and Mark Davies settled the tie in the closing minutes leaving the cup purists to look elsewhere for a third round upset.

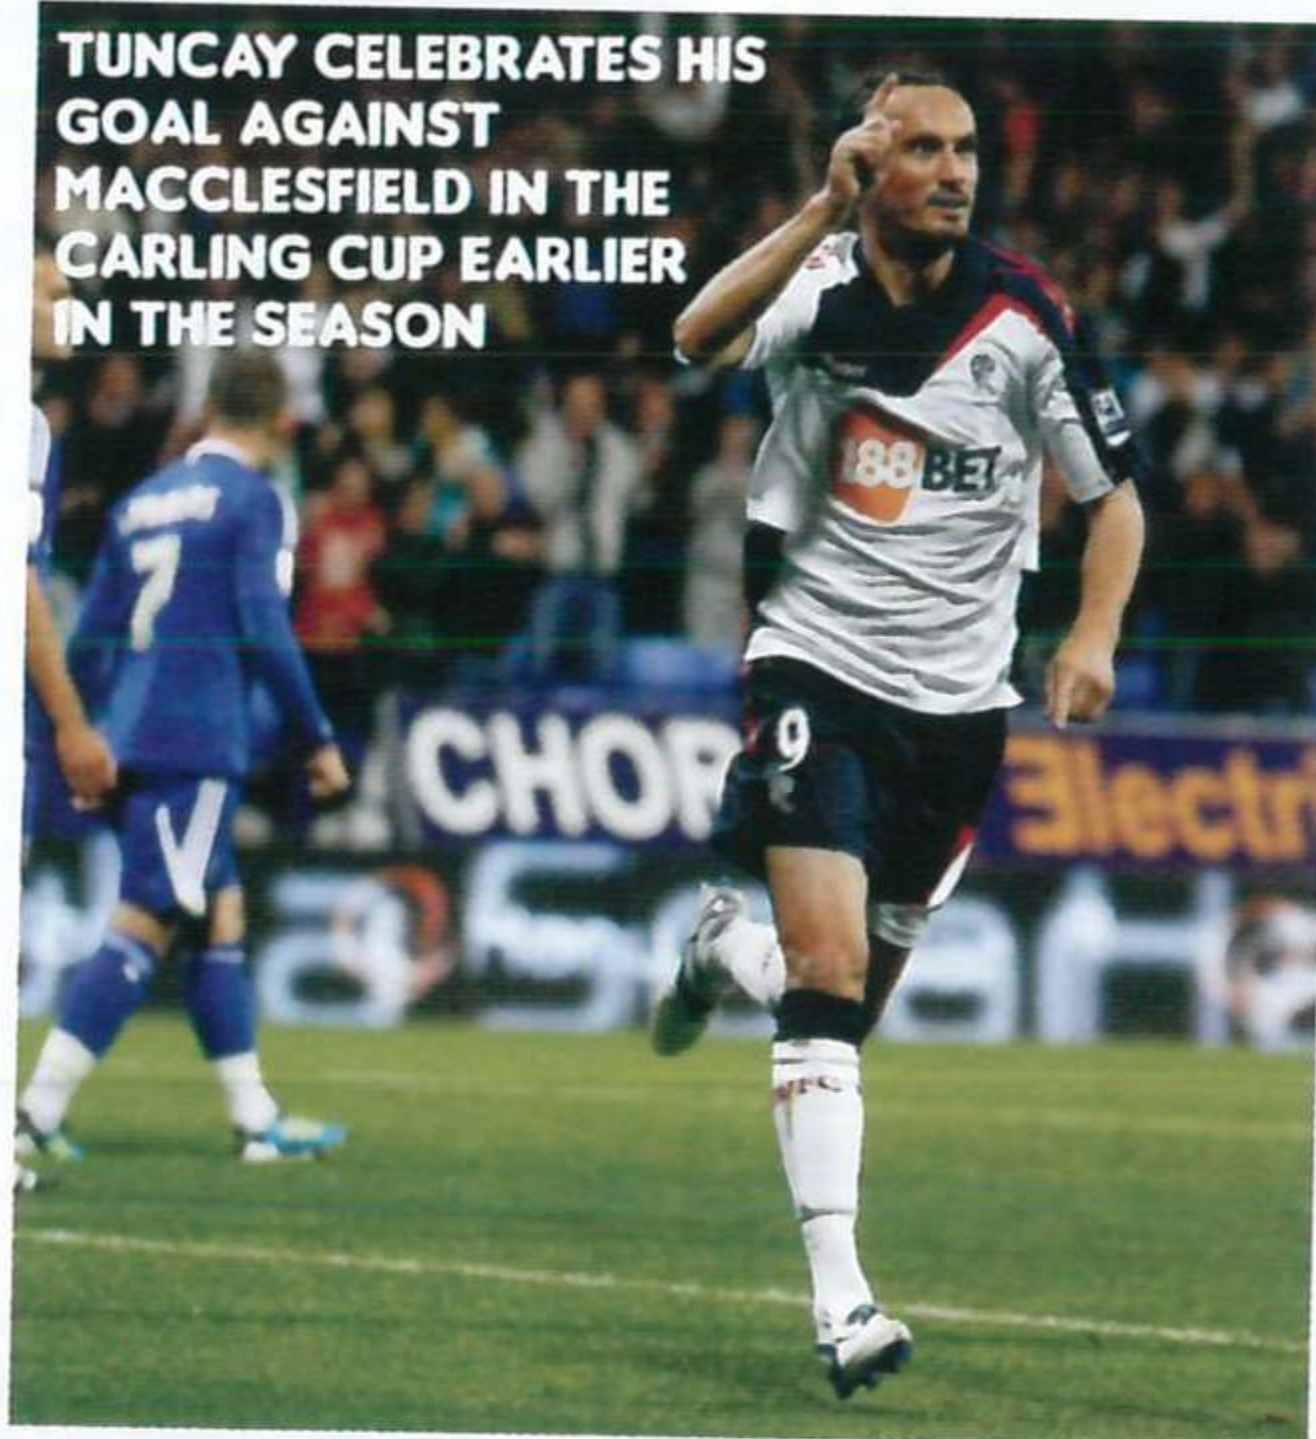

It was a similar story against Watford down at Vicarage Road in 2006 in a game that notably saw reserve goalkeeper Sam Ashton come off the bench as an outfield player for the final few minutes for his only appearance for his hometown team.

Manager Sam Allardyce had to make a number of changes to the team due to injury meaning the likes of El-Hadji Diouf, Gary Speed, Ivan Campo, Kevin Davies,

MARTIN PETROV SEALS THE WIN AGAINST MACCLESFIELD IN AUGUST

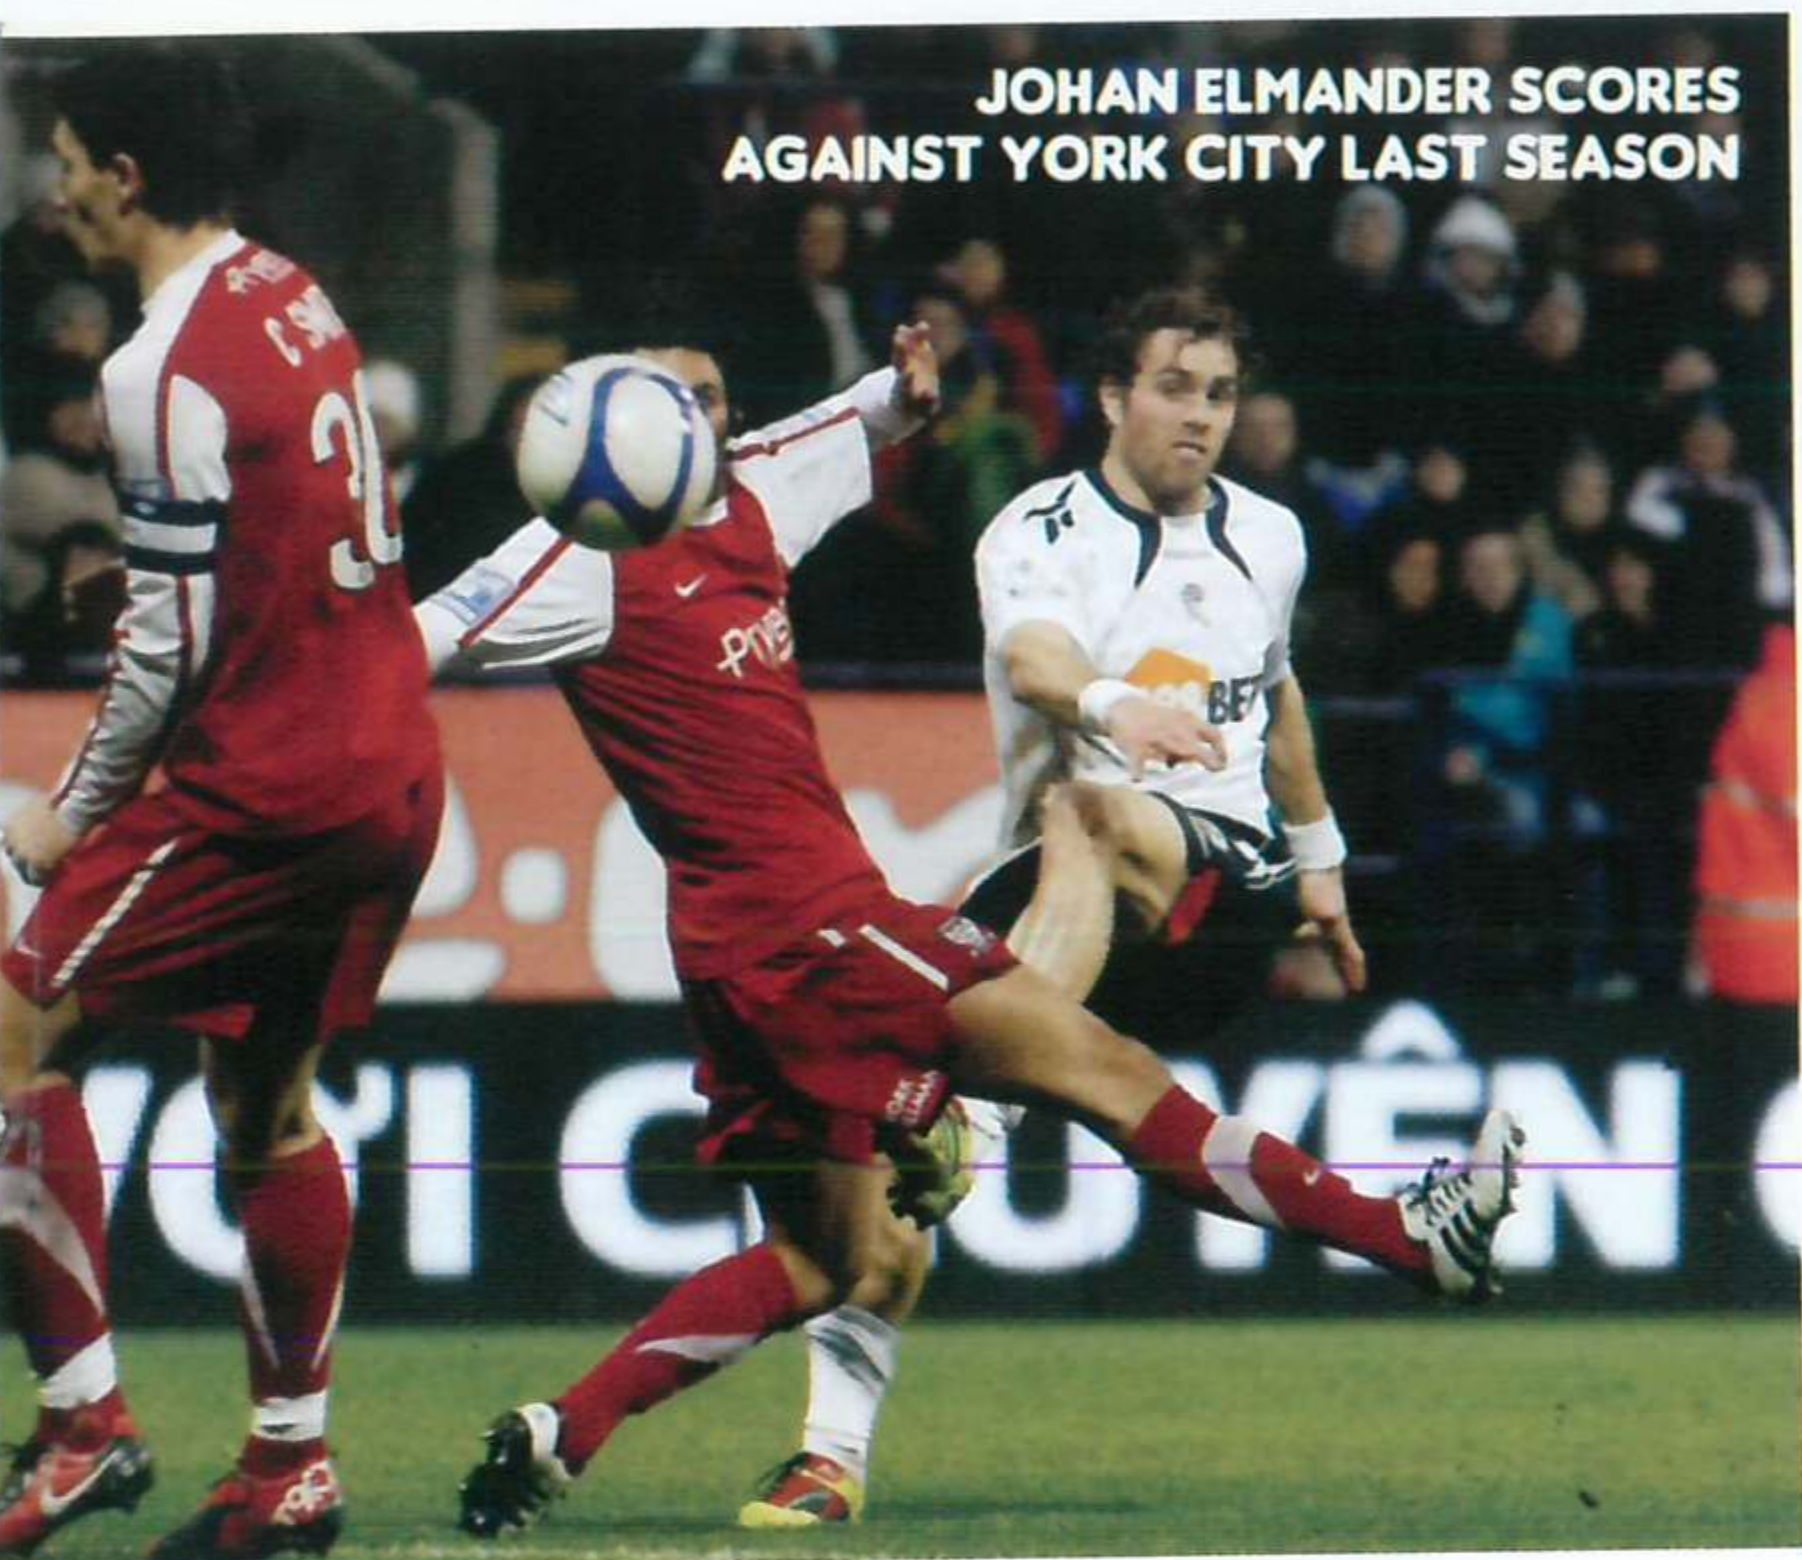

The lively Colin Daniel and a wonder strike by Arnaud Mendy cancelled out Ivan Klasnic's early opener in Cheshire but thankfully for Owen Coyle's men their blushes had been spared when the tie was sent to a replay owing to David Wheeler's first Bolton goal since moving from Middlesbrough a year ago.

Indeed Macc's other visit to Bolton this season was another close encounter. Striker Emile Sinclair, now of Peterborough United, rounded Adam Bogdan early on to give them a shock lead but Wanderers stepped up proceedings in the second half and a debut goal from Sanli Tuncay followed by a neat finish from the experienced Martin Petrov ensured the hosts made it into the next round.

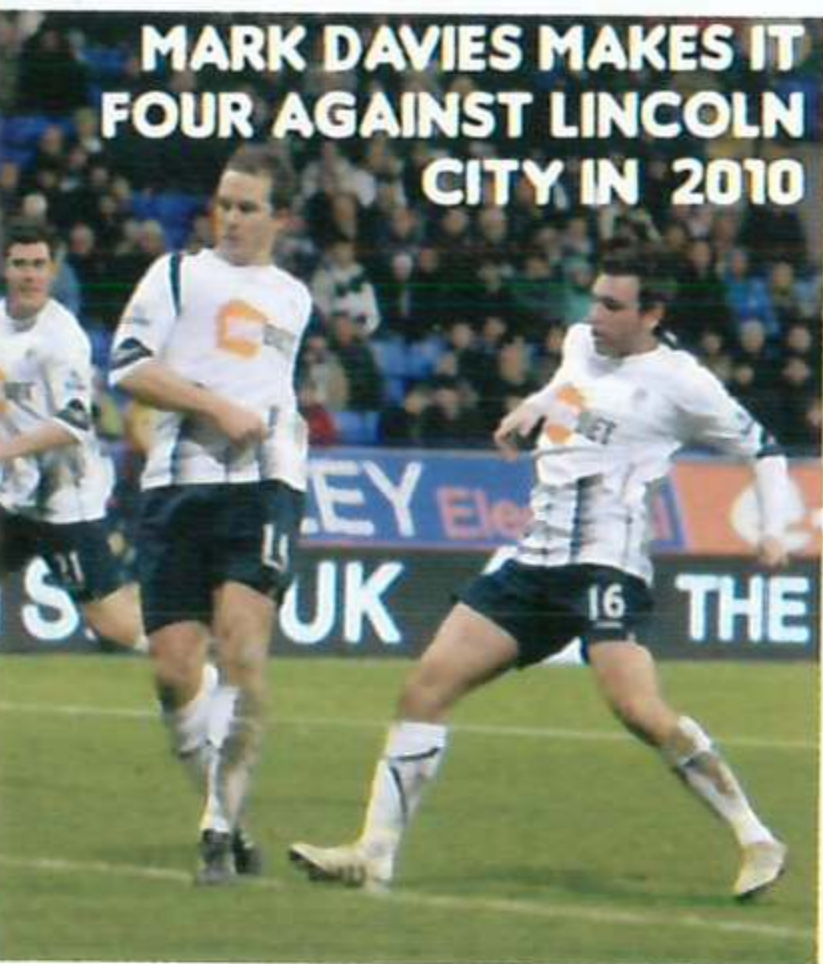

LOWER LEAGUE OPPONENTS

JOHAN ELMANDER SCORES AGAINST YORK CITY LAST SEASON

Kevin Nolan and Jussi Jaaskelainen missed out. However, first half goals from Jared Borgetti and Stelios Giannakopoulos gave the patched up Bolton outfit a comfortable margin to build on. Rare starter Ricardo Vaz-Te made the game safe with a super 30-yard effort which capped off a fine individual display by the young Portuguese forward who had threatened the Hornets back line all afternoon.

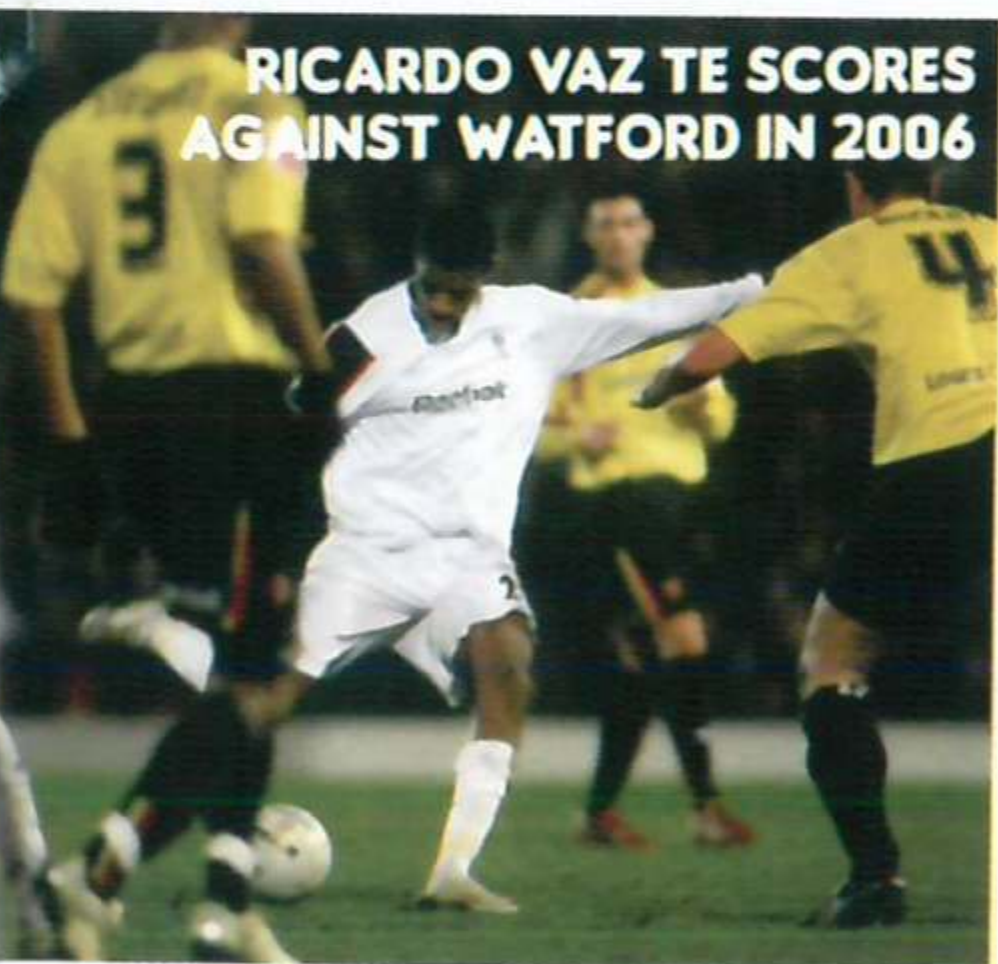

MARK DAVIES MAKES IT FOUR AGAINST LINCOLN CITY IN 2010

Of course, it hasn't always been plain sailing from a Bolton point of view when facing lower league opponents as League Cup ties in 2002 and 2008 testify. Local rivals Bury came here in the early stages of the 2002/03 season to knock Wanderers out of the competition when Bernard Mendy slid past his own goalkeeper Kevin Poole. Six years later Northampton Town, and in particular their much travelled striker Adebayo Akinfenwa, proved a thorn in Wanderers side when they pulled off a shock 2-1 win.

RICARDO VAZ TE SCORES AGAINST WATFORD IN 2006

Bolton manager Owen Coyle has usually been on the right side of giant killing displays as both a player and a manager and he will be hoping that this sequence continues and Wanderers make their way into round four.

MY MEMORY – MACCLESFIELD TOWN

Macclesfield's last visit to Bolton gave the home support the first glimpse of the future with the likes of Joe Riley, Adam Blakeman and Michael O'Halloran all given their first team debuts against the Silkmen.

Not since Danny Ward's brief flirtation with the first team in 2009 had the Wanderers had a player come through the ranks, so the appearance of the young trio came as a welcome boost for the manager who is a great advocate of youth development.

Joe in particular did his future prospects at the club no harm at all with a solid performance at right back and his cross for Tuncay's equaliser was a delivery that more senior players such as Chris Eagles and Martin Petrov would have been proud of.

Joe has since appeared a couple of times in the Premier League for Bolton and it's only due to injury that we haven't seen much more from him.

MOSS ROSE STADIUM

GARY SIMPSON

The 50-year-old Yorkshireman was handed the reins at Macclesfield following the death of Keith Alexander in March 2010.

Simpson initially took over in a caretaker capacity and led Macc to 18 points from his first 10 games in charge before being appointed their permanent manager for the next two seasons.

As well as having one of the tightest budgets in the entire Football League, the club also had to deal with the death of midfielder Richard Butcher last year. Yet Simpson has steadied the ship after both tragedies and fostered a real sense of togetherness at Moss Rose.

Simpson led the club to a 15th-placed finish in League Two, their highest in six seasons, in his first full season in management. His first foray into management was as player-manager of non-league side Gainsborough Trinity, while his only previous Football League experience was in an 11-game spell in caretaker charge of Lincoln City.

M

SIMPSON: LET'S ENJOY OURSELVES MACC BOSS TARGETS SHOCK VICTORY

Gary Simpson has been in football long enough to know that his Macclesfield side are massive underdogs in tonight's FA Cup third-round replay.

"I am a realist and I know that 19 times out of 20 Bolton would beat us," he told the official matchday programme. "But we've played them twice now and given them a game on both occasions. Can we do that for a third time? Well, I just want us not to disgrace ourselves and make sure we perform. We can't catch Bolton by surprise any more because they know our players. Whatever side they put out will be full of good players, they're a Premier League team. Let's go out and enjoy it and see what happens."

That is typical of Simpson, a well-respected figure who took the reins at Moss Rose following the sudden death of Keith Alexander, the club's hugely popular and highly respected manager, in March 2010. Alexander was 53. Yet Simpson has fashioned a talented young squad who punch above their weight in League Two.

He added: "Keith and I had a special relationship, I wasn't really a number two that had no say. We were great mates. He let me get on with stuff and it was a joint effort, although Keith had the final say."

KEITH ALEXANDER AND GARY SIMPSON IN 2005

WE'VE PLAYED THEM TWICE NOW AND GIVEN THEM A GAME ON BOTH OCCASIONS."

"I went out to find players and it's similar now to be fair, only I am my own number two, if you like. We sold five players in the summer, bringing in £400,000, and we had to replace those five. We replaced them with youngsters and have still managed to compete."

Despite losing players during the summer in order to balance the books, Simpson carries out his job with a smile on his face. His glass in life is half full rather than half empty and he takes a pragmatic view on the financial restrictions at a League Two club constantly striving to balance the books.

Nobody at Bolton will be underestimating Simpson's men after they won 2-0 against Hull at the KC Stadium earlier in the season in the Carling Cup to earn a trip to the Reebok Stadium. They narrowly lost that game 2-1 but will return here in buoyant mood after pushing Wanderers close 10 days, drawing 2-2 in the FA Cup third round.

Simpson added: "You get two or three results like that and it does you confidence. To get to the second round of the Carling Cup and the third round of the FA Cup may not generate big revenue to many clubs, but it can be a huge amount to a club like ours.

"It's great for our players that they can pit their wits against the cream of the Premier League. Obviously it will hold them in strong stead for their future careers as we have a young squad with the likes of Elliott Hewitt, Shaun Brisley, Tony Diagne and Arnaud Mendy.

"Elliott Hewitt has been tracked by a number of clubs and Shaun Brisley has made over 100 league appearances, despite only being 21. That's fantastic for him to get that under his belt. Tony Diagne is ex-Nottingham Forest and we brought him back from France. He's got a big future ahead of him. Arnaud Mendy is only in his early twenties and obviously scored the goal in the first game.

"Like I say, we've got quite a few good young players. George Donnelly is also still young. It's a youthful squad but to be honest that's the way we've got to go. We need to take players from the lower leagues and try and improve them, and possibly sell them on at a profit. We have to do that to keep the club going. We haven't done badly this season in the league but we have dropped off in the last seven or eight games."

Despite their cup exploits this season, Simpson admitted that Macclesfield's priority remains survival in the Football League. That is not in doubt.

He said: "We can't grumble as the cup competitions have gone well, although it would be nice to kick on in the league in the second half of the season. The first aim is to consolidate, get to 50 points and guarantee safety. That would be considered a good season because there are much bigger clubs than ours below us in the table, or have gone out of the league altogether and have struggled to get back."

CLASSIC CAMPAIGNS

Football historian LEIGH EDWARDS selects five post-war Macclesfield Town 'Classic Campaigns'

1967/ 68

Macclesfield Town won the Cheshire League title and reached the FA Cup third round in 1967/68. The Silkmen were unbeaten in their opening 16 Cheshire League games, slamming five goals past Buxton, Mossley and New Brighton. They beat Stockport County 2-1 in an FA Cup first round replay, then beat Spennymoor 2-0 before losing 4-2 at top-flight Fulham in the third round. Macclesfield clinched the title with a 1-1 draw at home to Oswestry.

1969/ 70

Player-boss Frank Beaumont (right) guided Macclesfield Town to the Northern Premier League title and FA Trophy 'double' in 1969/70. The Silkmen soared to the top of the table with a 16 match unbeaten run, also taking Scunthorpe to an FA Cup first round replay. They defeated Burscough 1-0, Gainsborough 2-0, Bangor City 1-0, Burton Albion 4-0 and Barnet 1-0 in the FA Trophy before beating Telford 2-0 in the Wembley final to become the first winners. Macclesfield pipped Wigan Athletic to the title on goal average with a 1-0 victory at Scarborough but lost 3-2 to Altrincham in the Northern Premier League Cup final.

1986/ 87

Macclesfield Town achieved the Northern Premier League 'treble' in 1986/87. New signings included Elfyn Edwards and Mike Lake, with the Silkmen remaining unbeaten in their opening seven matches. Steve Burr scored hat-tricks as Macclesfield beat Barrow 3-0 and Mossley 4-1, but by the end of February they were 13 points behind leaders Bangor City. Peter Wragg's side hit top form as their rivals began to falter and in a crowded final week they beat Burton Albion 2-0 in the Northern Premier League Cup final, defeated Marine 2-1 on aggregate in the President's Cup final and triumphed 3-1 at Hyde to win the Championship.

Peter Wragg managed Macclesfield Town to the FA Cup third round in 1987/88. The Silkmen began life in the Conference with a 1-0 victory at home to Maidstone and lost just one of their first seven games, beating Northwich 5-0. In the FA Cup they defeated Carlisle 4-2 in the first round, then Steve Burr netted a hat-trick as they won 4-0 at home to Rotherham. Macclesfield lost 1-0 at Port Vale in the third round and finished mid-table in the Conference.

1997/ 98

Macclesfield Town won promotion for the second consecutive season in 1997/98. New signings Efe Sodje (right) and Richard Landon scored on their debut as the Silkmen began life in the Football League with a 2-1 win at home to Torquay. They were early leaders after beating Doncaster 3-0 and lost only two of their first 14 matches. Newcomers Martin McDonald and Leroy Chambers helped Macclesfield win seven times in eight games as they soared back into the promotion frame, overcoming a 5-1 defeat at Colchester to be runners-up after winning their last four matches. Steve Wood was top scorer, while Ryan Price was ever-present.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURE

Announcements will be preceded by a distinctive two-toned signal. In the event of an emergency evacuation we will ask all spectators to listen very carefully to the public address announcements which will direct you to the evacuation route you should take. An evacuation may concern one or more stands in the Stadium. If the evacuation does not affect your stand, please remain where you are unless directed otherwise. Please respond quickly, but calmly, to the announcements and to the requests of the Stewards and Police Officers to ensure a safe evacuation of the Stadium.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Players, Directors and Staff of Bolton Wanderers Football Club wish to make clear our abhorrence of all forms of discrimination. Any fans who are caught abusing players or fans because of their race, gender, age, disability, religious belief or sexual orientation will face arrest and may be prosecuted. Bolton Wanderers celebrates diversity and asks you to support your club. Should you encounter any form of this unacceptable behaviour please email the club at feedback@bwfc.co.uk

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and creases, characteristic of old paper. A dark binding edge is visible on the left side. There is no text or other markings on the page.

In order to comply with Football League safety directives, Bolton Wanderers must ensure that supporters remain seated during matches. Supporters from both sides are therefore asked to refrain from standing for long periods of the game, it spoils it for others around you, and is a safety hazard. Everyone wants to enjoy themselves, but please understand the club's priority is to ensure the safety and well being of all spectators.

SNAP SHOT

MOMENTS OF BRILLIANCE FROM
WANDERERS PAST AND PRESENT

BRAVE BOLTON – SO CLOSE YET SO FAR

In 2000, Bolton Wanderers came within just a couple of kicks from competing in the last FA Cup final to be played at the old Wembley Stadium, only to be denied cruelly on penalty kicks against Aston Villa.

Playing in the second tier of English football, the Whites had enjoyed a swashbuckling cup run, eliminating the likes of Cardiff City, Tranmere Rovers, Cambridge United and Charlton Athletic en route to setting up a last-four tie against the Villains at Wembley.

The semi-final itself is best-remembered amongst Wanderers fans for one particular instance – Dean Holdsworth firing over the crossbar when it seemed easier to hit the target.

The £3.5million acquisition from Wimbledon later hit the post, but despite dominating through 120 minutes of nerve-jangling football, the game had to be decided by spot-kicks.

David James was the hero in the shootout, breaking Bolton hearts as he saved Allan Johnston and Michael Johansen's efforts from 12 yards out.

That game was the story of Bolton's 2000/01 season, where Wanderers fell victim in two other semi-finals; in the Worthington Cup against Tranmere Rovers and the Division One Play-Offs against Ipswich Town.
